CAR SKIDS ON MALAHAT TWO CITY SEAMEN DIE

Rail Strike Looms

MONTREAL (CP)—Fifteen unions representing about 112,000 non-operating railroad employees are to announce the result of a strike vote today. The result is considered a foregone conclusion.

The Gazette says returns already in show that up to 90 per cent of the non-operating employees favor a strike to back up their wage demands.

Ever since the balloting was announced last September, after the CPR and CNR refused to accept a 14-cent-an-hour wage increase which a federal conciliation board had recommended for the non-ops, there has been little or no doubt that the union members would favor a strike by a large majority.

A strike would close down the country's railroads from coast to coast.

Small Boy's Prank Costs Man's Life

NEW YORK (UPI)—A painter plunged to his death yesterday because an 11-year-old boy, as a prank, had cut part-way through a rope that held his scaffold. Harry Perlmutter, 62, fell three storeys to his death. His partner hung on and crawled to safety through a window.

News Stuns Shipmates On Icebreaker Camsell

By JACK FRY

A pulverizing car crash on the Malahat last night left two men dead and three persons injured.

Dead are Douglas Hartlen, of Nova Scotia, a deckhand, and James Percy, 730 Violet, second cook, who worked aboard the icebreaker CGS Camsell, due to sail from Victoria Wednesday.

MESS BOY

Injured were Douglas Hartlen's brother, Keith, deckhand, and Alvin Fisher, mess boy, both of the Camsell, and Marjory Gavell, all treated for undetermined injuries at St. Joseph's Hospital. Keith was discharged by press time, Gavell was listed in fair condition and Fisher satisfactory.

Only one car was involved, said police. A Victoria-bound 1955 Ford apparently skidded out of control for 75 yards along a ditch on Tunnel Hill and flipped back onto the highway, landing upside down.

Three ambulances raced dying and injured to St. Joseph's Hospital.

GRISLY SCENE

Traffic came to a standstill bumper-to-bumper for a quarter mile on each side of the grisly scene.

Four hours later, RCMP were still piecing together their reports.

John Getgood, RR1 Ladysmith, followed the death car down the Malahat but was too far behind to see the actual crash. He rounded a curve and saw ahead of him the mangled car and broken bodies nearby.

STUNNED VICTIM

He jumped from his car and ran to a man staggering near the form of a girl lying on the highway beside the front fender. The stunned victim repeatedly mumbled "my name is Fisher . . . my name is Fisher," said Mr. Getgood.

"We found two more men trapped inside the car and a third lying in the ditch 30 feet from the car. One man inside had a strong pulse but I couldn't reach the other one."

CAME TO HELP

Another motorist came to assist and "we tried to lift the car but we couldn't budge it," he said.

RCMP were called by Philip Robertson, of Shawnigan Lake, second person upon the scene, who turned his car around and sped off to Goldstream, the nearest telephone.

The first ambulance, driven by Allen Le Quesne, who was assisted by Vic Kent, both of the Langford volunteer fire department, brought the injured woman and one of the dead men.

"A car seat was in the middle of the road, 20 feet from the wreck. The girl was lying with her head on the cushion and a young man in a bad state of shock was sitting on the other end of the same seat," said Mr. Le Quesne.

ANOTHER AMBULANCE

Another Langford ambulance commandeered by Eugene Yates and Vern Edwards brought in two men, both conscious, one whose forehead was swathed in blood-stained bandages and the other who was propped on one elbow with an unlighted cigaret dangling from his mouth.

Joe Rainer, driver, and Max David, of Victoria Ambulance Service Ltd., brought in the second dead man. "Cars were lined up for a quarter mile when we pulled up," he said. "I suppose there were about as many cars on the other side too."

STUNNED BY NEWS

Shipmates aboard the Camsell, tied up by Johnson Street Bridge, were stunned by the news. Leaving one man on watch, the rest hurried over to hospital.

In mild shock was bos'un William Green, who said "I was going to go with them up to Nanaimo but I came down to watch the football game on television here and missed them."

He was later seen at hospital trying to console Keith Hartlen over the loss of his brother.

MUCH MISSED

Capt. A. F. Davidson, skipper of the Camsell, said of his dead crew members, "They will be very much missed by the ship's company. They were good boys, hard workers and reliable.

"Both were with me since the ship was commissioned last November."

Cook Hangs

Commutation Turned Down

FT. SASKATCHEWAN, Alta. (CP)—Robert Raymond Cook, 23, was hanged early today for the murder of his father.

The trap was sprung at 12.05 a.m. (MST) and Cook was pronounced dead at 12.19 a.m.

Warden Thomas Holt said Cook "went like a man should" and added that Cook "has been a wonderful prisoner."

Cook, an auto mechanic, was convicted twice of murder after the shot and bludgeoned bodies of seven members of his family were found in a garage grease pit.

As the hours ran out for Cook, he summoned lawyer Giffard Main to his jail cell.

The call for Mr. Main came Monday after Cook had received a telegram from Ottawa saying there would be no commutation.

Cook, baptized into the Lutheran faith at 10 p.m., deeded his eyes to the Edmonton eye bank and his body to the anatomy department of the University of Alberta. No one claimed his body.

He maintained his innocence to the end but did not implicate anyone, said Rev. W. A. Rumsch.

There have been only nine executions in Canada since the Progressive Conservative government assumed office in June, 1957. Commutations to life imprisonment total 35 out of the 44 death sentences for murder.

Ports to be served include Port McNeill, Beaver Cove, Alert Bay and Sointula.

UN Speaker

Small A-Club Urged by Green

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP) — Without disarmament, the nuclear club will become "the least exclusive club in the world—and we all know what that means," External Affairs Minister Green told the United Nations Monday.

The Canadian said messages exchanged between American president-elect John Kennedy and Soviet Premier Khrushchev are "heartening." But the U.S. election was bound to cause some delay in resumption of disarmament negotiations.

EMPHASIZE URGENCY

Once again he called on middle and smaller countries for support of Canada's resolution urging establishment of a small UN non-nuclear committee to emphasize the urgency of disarmament and work at getting East-West negotiations going again.

U.S. Snags Second Capsule

HONOLULU (UPI)—A U.S. Air Force plane almost six miles above the ocean Monday caught the gold-plated capsule of a Discoverer satellite that had whirled 31 times and almost 1,000,000 miles around the world.

It was only the second time in history a satellite capsule has been caught in mid-air and the air crew that did it almost missed the flight because of mechanical trouble. They snagbed it on the second pass.

The Discoverer XVII, fired from a California base Saturday, was left in space for 31 passes instead of the usual 17 when scientists reported it was working perfectly.

Promote Revolt Goldwater Urges

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. Barry Goldwater Monday proposed a series of drastic changes in U.S. foreign policy—including less reliance on the United Nations and the active promotion of U.S.-backed revolutions in Communist eastern Europe.

The Arizona senator, a leader in the Republican party's conservative bloc, also suggested that the Western powers consider an "interim protectorate" over Africa to prepare that strife-torn area for effective self-government.

Goldwater's remarks could signal a major try on his part to win a stronger voice in Republican councils in anticipation of the 1964 presidential race.

After Vice-President Richard M. Nixon's defeat he said he wanted a voice in the next national election battle.

He said the United States "must shed the attitudes and techniques of the Salvation Army and start behaving like a great power."

Otherwise, he said, "the situation will progressively worsen until the United States is at bay—isolated and besieged by an entirely hostile world."

Kennedy Asked to Check Ouster of Portland Men

PORTLAND (AP) — President-elect John F. Kennedy was asked Monday to help stay the deportation of two Portland men, Hamish Scott Mackay and William A. Mackie.

The supreme court earlier Monday refused to order a stay. Now only an order from the president could block the deportation which the immigration service has been working at for years.

President Eisenhower did not acknowledge a request to intervene.

Their offense, the two say, was in joining groups that tried to help the unemployed during the depression.

TV Strike Tonight?

NEW YORK (AP)—Representatives of a performers' union and the four major U.S. television and radio networks resumed negotiations yesterday seeking to reach agreement on a new contract before today's midnight deadline for a possible strike.

Networks have been stockpiling TV film shows to keep networks on the air if all live television is struck.

Reds Boost Ruble Value

LONDON (Reuters) — Russia announced Monday a revaluation of its currency, effective Jan. 1, 1961, which makes a ruble worth more than a dollar.

Tass said the currency will be revalued at 90 kopeks to the dollar. There are 100 kopeks in a ruble. The current official rate pegs the ruble at about 25 cents.

Bores Talk—Never Stop

VANCOUVER (CP)—A Toronto educationist says North American snobs usually resent good grammar.

Speaking to a meeting of the Vancouver institute, Dr. Northrop Frye, principal of Victoria College, said he had noted a tendency to avoid the "full sentence stop."

"You must have noticed when talking with bores how they avoid the full stop," he said, "realizing that if they ever came to it, you would suddenly realize you had another urgent appointment."

Dr. Frye called the language of ordinary speech, the language of the eagle, "mumbling and sputtering."

Woman Puts Foot in Robbery

TORONTO (UPI)—An astonished housewife foiled a $5,900 bankrobbery yesterday when she stuck out her foot and tripped a fleeing bandit.

Mrs. Sally Strauss sent the man sprawling to the pavement in a flurry of dollar bills near the Bank of Commerce branch in the Forest Hill district.

"There was a lot of money flying around for a few minutes," she said.

Police charged 27-year-old William Shapiro, a cab driver and father of four children, with armed robbery.

Mrs. Strauss, 41, said: "I didn't know there was a gun involved until the excitement was all over."

Police said it turned out to be a toy.

Mrs. Strauss said she was walking along the street to do her shopping when she saw a man rushing toward her and two men chasing him.

"Just as the first man dashed past, I grabbed for the paper bag and stuck out one foot. The bag went flying and so did the man," she said.

LET'S TALK

By Rudolf Flesch

Ever heard of a painter called Foujita? Until a few days ago the name was totally unknown to me, but now our house contains a print of a beautiful painting by him and I'm happy whenever I look at it.

The story connected with it is this.

We went on one of our shopping trips to the department store, my wife and I, and as we were walking out, I saw a sign that said "Last day of sale."

It turned out to be a special sale of prints at $1 and $1.98 apiece, with inexpensive frames to be put on right then and there. There was a long table with masses of prints—dozens of different Cezannes, Renoirs, Utrillos and whatnot—and I started to rummage around.

Real Eye-Catcher

Pretty soon my eye was caught by a painting that looked vaguely like a Utrillo.

You've probably seen those famous Utrillo paintings of Paris streets, all done in different shades of white. Well, this painting looked like an Utrillo but was somehow different. It was a Paris street scene all right, but instead of being a symphony in white, it was a symphony in white, grey and brown. There were a few shabby old houses squeezed together in a narrow street, with a vista of a Gothic church in the background (part of Notre Dame, perhaps?) and a cluster of roofs, dormers and chimney on top. I turned the print over and saw that it was marked "Foujita: Quaix aux Fleurs."

We bought it for $1.98 and for another $2.98 had it framed in plain oak.

When we came home, my 15-year-old son Hugo, who is a budding artist, said this was the most beautiful picture he'd ever seen and could he have it for his room.

Nowhere to Put It

I said no, it was meant for downstairs. Then I walked around the whole downstairs and tried to find a spot for it, but strangely enough, there wasn't a single suitable spot on any of the walls. So I retracted and told Hugo he could have it.

We took it upstairs and I remembered then that Hugo's room had just recently been papered and his old pictures had never been put back up again. His walls were bare.

There was one obvious spot for the Foujita and that's where we put it up. As soon as we'd done it, the whole room miraculously changed as if it had been waiting for this picture all the time. Instead of a nondescript little bedroom, it turned into a room full of personality, character and style. Now at long last, it was really Hugo's room.

Funny the way things work out sometimes.

Your Good Health

Hard Tap Water Won't Hurt You

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, MD

"Dear Dr. Molner: Recently we purchased a water softener for our home because the well water is very hard and has a great deal of iron in it. The salesman told us such hard water is not good for one to drink—at least, he said, the softened water is much better.

"However, I do not like to drink the softened water and do not quite believe him.

"My question, then, is whether the calcium, iron, etc., in well water is injurious to health? After all, there is more sodium in the softened water.

"If you say so, I'll force myself, but otherwise I shall continue drinking from the hard water tap. Don't get me wrong: everything else in the soft water is wonderful.—Mrs. F. K."

M'am, you have things pegged just about perfectly.

Softened water is better for just about all purposes except drinking—and for that, it's a matter of taste.

There is no significance, so far as health is concerned, whether you drink hard water or soft, when the calcium, iron, etc., in hard water are in concentrations that leave the water in drinkable condition, such as ordinary well water. (I leave a slight qualification because it is possible in some wild places to find water so loaded with various impurities that it is bitter and offensive, and might in some cases be somewhat harmful to health.)

I seriously question whether a salesman is likely to make any more sales by making such an unfounded claim as your fellow did. The genuine reasons for softening water are adequate inducement for most anybody: Washing is easier and better; pipes don't clog up with lime; sinks don't discolor as stubbornly; less soap is needed; it's easier to wash your hair. And so on.

So I offer my advice, which I presume your salesman will ignore, but I'll tell him anyway: Stick to the truth, boy!

"Dear Dr. Molner: I have a hernia and it is getting larger. It came after I had gall bladder surgery. What can I do? —Mrs. A. G."

★ ★ ★

Where is the hernia? If it is at the site of the operation, report this to the surgeon so he can take proper steps to correct it. If, on the other hand, the hernia is in the groin or in the abdomen but not at the scar from the operation, then there is no connection between it and the operation. However, since it is becoming worse, you should consult your physician. Hernias don't get better by being left alone; they get worse.

For Mrs. B. A. S.: I've said before, and I repeat emphatically to you, heavy use of alchohol and poor diet contribute to cirrhosis of the liver—but the disease can and does occur in people who have never touched a drop of alcohol in all their lives.

Warship Rescues Big Yacht

Pacific Command destroyer escort HMCS Fraser late yesterday took the crippled 40-foot yacht Sea Witch in tow and headed for Honolulu, 600 miles away.

Latest message received here from Fraser said the yacht was taken in tow at 5 p.m. after Mrs. Frances Westfall and her two children, Vicky and Cloyd, had been transferred to the warship.

Three other occupants of the twin-masted yacht, Victor Westfall, a former aircraft plastics engineer, and crewmen William Basseri and James Smith, remained on board.

Sea Witch had been at sea 62 days out of San Diego, bound for Tahiti and New Zealand, when a storm damaged the ship. An RCN repair party from Fraser reported auxiliary engines, rigging and sails couldn't be made serviceable.

'Gracious Act'

Kennedy Goes To Visit Nixon

★ ★ ★

MIAMI (AP)—John Kennedy paid a perhaps unprecedented call Monday on the man he defeated for the presidency to discuss in an atmosphere of cordiality the problems of a political transition and world affairs.

Kennedy and Vice-President Richard Nixon chatted for 63 minutes. Kennedy said later there was no discussion of a position for Nixon in the new administration.

CORDIAL, HELPFUL

In separate press conferences afterward, each said the session was cordial and helpful.

Kennedy made the overtures for the meeting. Nixon termed it "a very gracious act."

While there were deep differences during the campaign, Nixon said the meeting was "notice to all the world there will be no differences we will have in the next four years based on personal considerations."

TO MEET IKE

Kennedy said he definitely expects to meet President Eisenhower before the Jan. 20 inauguration.

Search Stops For Family Near Island

The large-scale search for a Lasqueti Island man and his three children, missing since Friday in Georgia Strait, was cancelled yesterday.

The four are presumed dead, although no trace of their bodies has been found.

A land party Sunday found a briefcase on Hornby Island which belonged to the man, William Fisher, 45, who owns a hotel on Lasqueti Island. Searchers also found two lifejackets of the type worn by the children—six years, seven and 10.

The four were on a 10-mile trip from Lasqueti Island to French Creek, near Qualicum Beach in Mr. Fisher's small boat.

A full-scale search was carried out Saturday, Sunday and yesterday and the area was fully covered, Powell River RCMP reported last night.

Canada's Hope-

Money 'Wave' Coming

LONDON (CP)—The Financial Times says some Canadians hope for a "wave of public spending" by the new U.S. administration to help lift the Canadian economy from its depressed state.

Unemployment is dominating Canadian public attention equally in political, business and labor circles, the newspaper adds in a story from Ottawa.

MORE JOBLESS

It predicts that more than one man in every 10 will be unemployed this winter, adding that more women will also be jobless—especially those below 25.

The paper quotes Canadian industrialist E. P. Taylor as saying Canada faces a long period of slackness in industry and business, with consequent large-scale unemployment and a continuing fall-off in the flow of desirable immigrants unless "we face up to the situation and adopt new policies and practices."

BUSINESS LEAD

Taylor's plan to deal with "present national emergency" is an economic affairs and welfare ministry headed by a top businessman who could secure cabinet authority for his remedies "however unpopular they may be in some quarters."

While public demand may concentrate on the need for shorter measures to alleviate unemployment, the story adds, more thoughtful businessmen are looking for long-term measures to assure a continued basis for a permanent increase in employment.

GOOD CATTLE

Is U.S. Brainwashing Us?

Dike Sought to Stem Flood of Literature

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's political parties were asked Monday to bury their differences and support one public policy to help overcome U.S. domination of Canadian reading habits.

In the second submission to the royal commission on publications the Graphic Arts Industries Association said bitterly that Canada must either increase its own output of books, magazines and periodicals or "concede victory now to the greater glory of U.S. materialism."

FOR PERIODICALS

The association, speaking mainly for Canadian periodicals, did not advocate tariffs, taxation or embargoes against the flood of U.S. publications.

It urged a public policy—through the Canada Council or some new agency—for "positive encouragement" of the Canadian-owned, Canadian-produced printing industry, with special attention to reading material with a national circulation.

EVEN WORSE

"Dilly-dallying or deferring until another day will do no good, only greater damage," the association said. Time was on the side of the strong U.S. competitors who—aided by the U.S. government are staging a campaign to "Americanize the reading habits of the Canadian people from childhood up."

No other self-governing nation in the world is exposed to such severe printing competition, the association said.

$5.09 APIECE

Last year Canada imported $87,371,013 worth of publications and printed matter from the U.S. or $5.09 worth for each Canadian while Canadian exports to the U.S. totalled only $3,913,690 — two cents worth for each U.S. resident.

Despite this imbalance, organizers of printers and publishers "have been agitating this very year for more restraints upon competition and for more concessions by other countries, including Canada."

In 1931, the brief noted, the alarm felt by the Canadian industry led to imposition of tariffs and excise taxes by the then Conservative government. To escape these burdens, 52 U.S. magazines came to Canada to print their Canadian requirements.

Then, following the 1935 federak election, the Liberals "promptly did the popular thing" and removed the tariffs and taxes—"probably not realizing the extent to which the U.S. now would exploit our defenceless situation." Immediately all 52 U.S. publishers took their printing home.

LET'S TALK

By Rudolf Flesch

Ever heard of a painter called Foujita? Until a few days ago the name was totally unknown to me, but now our house contains a print of a beautiful painting by him and I'm happy whenever I look at it.

The story connected with it is this.

We went on one of our shopping trips to the department store, my wife and I, and as we were walking out, I saw a sign that said "Last day of sale."

It turned out to be a special sale of prints at $1 and $1.98 apiece, with inexpensive frames to be put on right then and there. There was a long table with masses of prints—dozens of different Cezannes, Renoirs, Utrillos and whatnot—and I started to rummage around.

Real Eye-Catcher

Pretty soon my eye was caught by a painting that looked vaguely like a Utrillo.

You've probably seen those famous Utrillo paintings of Paris streets, all done in different shades of white. Well, this painting looked like an Utrillo but was somehow different. It was a Paris street scene all right, but instead of being a symphony in white, it was a symphony in white, grey and brown. There were a few shabby old houses squeezed together in a narrow street, with a vista of a Gothic church in the background (part of Notre Dame, perhaps?) and a cluster of roofs, dormers and chimney on top. I turned the print over and saw that it was marked "Foujita: Quaix aux Fleurs."

We bought it for $1.98 and for another $2.98 had it framed in plain oak.

When we came home, my 15-year-old son Hugo, who is a budding artist, said this was the most beautiful picture he'd ever seen and could he have it for his room.

Nowhere to Put It

I said no, it was meant for downstairs. Then I walked around the whole downstairs and tried to find a spot for it, but strangely enough, there wasn't a single suitable spot on any of the walls. So I retracted and told Hugo he could have it.

We took it upstairs and I remembered then that Hugo's room had just recently been papered and his old pictures had never been put back up again. His walls were bare.

There was one obvious spot for the Foujita and that's where we put it up. As soon as we'd done it, the whole room miraculously changed as if it had been waiting for this picture all the time. Instead of a nondescript little bedroom, it turned into a room full of personality, character and style. Now at long last, it was really Hugo's room.

Funny the way things work out sometimes.

Your Good Health

Hard Tap Water Won't Hurt You

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, MD

"Dear Dr. Molner: Recently we purchased a water softener for our home because the well water is very hard and has a great deal of iron in it. The salesman told us such hard water is not good for one to drink—at least, he said, the softened water is much better.

"However, I do not like to drink the softened water and do not quite believe him.

"My question, then, is whether the calcium, iron, etc., in well water is injurious to health? After all, there is more sodium in the softened water.

"If you say so, I'll force myself, but otherwise I shall continue drinking from the hard water tap. Don't get me wrong: everything else in the soft water is wonderful.—Mrs. F. K."

M'am, you have things pegged just about perfectly.

Softened water is better for just about all purposes except drinking—and for that, it's a matter of taste.

There is no significance, so far as health is concerned, whether you drink hard water or soft, when the calcium, iron, etc., in hard water are in concentrations that leave the water in drinkable condition, such as ordinary well water. (I leave a slight qualification because it is possible in some wild places to find water so loaded with various impurities that it is bitter and offensive, and might in some cases be somewhat harmful to health.)

I seriously question whether a salesman is likely to make any more sales by making such an unfounded claim as your fellow did. The genuine reasons for softening water are adequate inducement for most anybody: Washing is easier and better; pipes don't clog up with lime; sinks don't discolor as stubbornly; less soap is needed; it's easier to wash your hair. And so on.

So I offer my advice, which I presume your salesman will ignore, but I'll tell him anyway: Stick to the truth, boy!

"Dear Dr. Molner: I have a hernia and it is getting larger. It came after I had gall bladder surgery. What can I do? —Mrs. A. G."

★ ★ ★

Where is the hernia? If it is at the site of the operation, report this to the surgeon so he can take proper steps to correct it. If, on the other hand, the hernia is in the groin or in the abdomen but not at the scar from the operation, then there is no connection between it and the operation. However, since it is becoming worse, you should consult your physician. Hernias don't get better by being left alone; they get worse.

For Mrs. B. A. S.: I've said before, and I repeat emphatically to you, heavy use of alchohol and poor diet contribute to cirrhosis of the liver—but the disease can and does occur in people who have never touched a drop of alcohol in all their lives.

Warship Rescues Big Yacht

Pacific Command destroyer escort HMCS Fraser late yesterday took the crippled 40-foot yacht Sea Witch in tow and headed for Honolulu, 600 miles away.

Latest message received here from Fraser said the yacht was taken in tow at 5 p.m. after Mrs. Frances Westfall and her two children, Vicky and Cloyd, had been transferred to the warship.

Three other occupants of the twin-masted yacht, Victor Westfall, a former aircraft plastics engineer, and crewmen William Basseri and James Smith, remained on board.

Sea Witch had been at sea 62 days out of San Diego, bound for Tahiti and New Zealand, when a storm damaged the ship. An RCN repair party from Fraser reported auxiliary engines, rigging and sails couldn't be made serviceable.

Kidnap Suspect

FBI and state of Wisconsin have issued warrants for arrest of Rev. Lawrence Dudink, 47, chaplain of St. Mary's Hospital in Superior, Wis. He is charged with kidnapping Rosalie O'Connel, 17, who was a patient in the hospital. Priest and patient have been missing for a week.—(AP Photofax)

Is U.S. Brainwashing Us?

Dike Sought to Stem Flood of Literature

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's political parties were asked Monday to bury their differences and support one public policy to help overcome U.S. domination of Canadian reading habits.

In the second submission to the royal commission on publications the Graphic Arts Industries Association said bitterly that Canada must either increase its own output of books, magazines and periodicals or "concede victory now to the greater glory of U.S. materialism."

FOR PERIODICALS

The association, speaking mainly for Canadian periodicals, did not advocate tariffs, taxation or embargoes against the flood of U.S. publications.

It urged a public policy—through the Canada Council or some new agency—for "positive encouragement" of the Canadian-owned, Canadian-produced printing industry, with special attention to reading material with a national circulation.

EVEN WORSE

"Dilly-dallying or deferring until another day will do no good, only greater damage," the association said. Time was on the side of the strong U.S. competitors who—aided by the U.S. government are staging a campaign to "Americanize the reading habits of the Canadian people from childhood up."

No other self-governing nation in the world is exposed to such severe printing competition, the association said.

$5.09 APIECE

Last year Canada imported $87,371,013 worth of publications and printed matter from the U.S. or $5.09 worth for each Canadian while Canadian exports to the U.S. totalled only $3,913,690 — two cents worth for each U.S. resident.

Despite this imbalance, organizers of printers and publishers "have been agitating this very year for more restraints upon competition and for more concessions by other countries, including Canada."

In 1931, the brief noted, the alarm felt by the Canadian industry led to imposition of tariffs and excise taxes by the then Conservative government. To escape these burdens, 52 U.S. magazines came to Canada to print their Canadian requirements.

Then, following the 1935 federal election, the Liberals "promptly did the popular thing" and removed the tariffs and taxes—"probably not realizing the extent to which the U.S. now would exploit our defenceless situation." Immediately all 52 U.S. publishers took their printing home.

'Gracious Act'

Kennedy Goes To Visit Nixon

MIAMI (AP) — John Kennedy paid a perhaps unprecedented call Monday on the man he defeated for the presidency to discuss in an atmosphere of cordiality the problems of a political transition and world affairs.

Kennedy and Vice-President Richard Nixon chatted for 63 minutes. Kennedy said later there was no discussion of a position for Nixon in the new administration.

CORDIAL, HELPFUL

In separate press conferences afterward, each said the session was cordial and helpful.

Kennedy made the overtures for the meeting. Nixon termed it "a very gracious act."

While there were deep differences during the campaign, Nixon said the meeting was "notice to all the world there will be no differences we will have in the next four years based on personal considerations."

TO MEET IKE

Kennedy said he definitely expects to meet President Eisenhower before the Jan. 20 inauguration.

Canada's Hope

Money 'Wave' Coming

LONDON (CP) — The Financial Times says some Canadians hope for a "wave of public spending" by the new U.S. administration to help lift the Canadian economy from its depressed state.

Unemployment is dominating Canadian public attention equally in political, business and labor circles, the newspaper adds in a story from Ottawa.

MORE JOBLESS

It predicts that more than one man in every 10 will be unemployed this winter, adding that more women will also be jobless — especially those below 25.

The paper quotes Canadian industrialist E. P. Taylor as saying Canada faces a long period of slackness in industry and business, with consequent large-scale unemployment and a continuing fall-off in the flow of desirable immigrants unless "we face up to the situation and adopt new policies and practices."

BUSINESS LEAD

Taylor's plan to deal with "present national emergency" is an economic affairs and welfare ministry headed by a top businessman who could secure cabinet authority for his remedies "however unpopular they may be in some quarters."

While public demand may concentrate on the need for shorter measures to alleviate unemployment, the story adds, more thoughtful businessmen are looking for long-term measures to assure a continued basis for a permanent increase in employment.

GOOD CATTLE

The first shorthorn cattle imported to Canada came from England's eastern counties about 1830.

Believed Dead

Search Stops For Family Near Island

The large-scale search for a Lasqueti Island man and his three children, missing since Friday in Georgia Strait, was cancelled yesterday.

The four are presumed dead, although no trace of their bodies has been found.

A land party Sunday found a briefcase on Hornby Island which belonged to the man, William Fisher, 45, who owns a hotel on Lasqueti Island. Searchers also found two lifejackets of the type worn by the children—six years, seven and 10.

The four were on a 10-mile trip from Lasqueti Island to French Creek, near Qualicum Beach in Mr. Fisher's small boat.

A full-scale search was carried out Saturday, Sunday and yesterday and the area was fully covered, Powell River RCMP reported last night.

Snow Stops Cave Search

Hopes of finding Ed Mullard's mysterious cave this fall vanished under two inches of snow Sunday as a Colonist-sponsored expedition pulled out of the forests northwest of Survey Mountain.

The cave, described as being skillfully carved into solid rock and spiralling down into the mountain, was found accidentally by the prospector, who died last year without ever telling exactly where it is and as he was about to take a Colonist reporter to the site.

LOOKED GOOD

The three-day expedition, hampered in its early stages by fog and rain, started early Sunday in what promised to be clear, cool weather.

A Vancouver Island Helicopter machine, piloted by Noel Dodwell, hopped over from Patricia Bay and carried a three-man party to Weeks Lake, in the southeast corner of Jordan Meadows, hoping to find the short cut by which Mullard was hiking out to Leechtown when he stumbled on the cave.

Gusty winds balked a landing on top of Survey Mountain, although the helicopter was able to direct a five-man ground party moving down the rocky bluffs on the southwest face, and the Jordan Meadows group.

Dirty weather closed in about 10.30 a.m., when a bank of clouds rolled swiftly up the Leech River Valley, nearly blocking the helicopter's escape. Dodwell landed for a few seconds at the base cabin on the east side of the mountain, then took off hurriedly just before heavy clouds rolled over that valley.

Fifteen minutes later heavy snow was falling on top of Survey Mountain. The radio relay was maintained there until two inches had fallen, then its one-man crew retreated.

The two ground parties joined forces and started back, skirting the north end of the mountain. A third party hiked in to guide them to the trail, difficult to find from the northwest end but reasonably easy from the near end. The combined party of 11 made it out of the forest just as darkness fell.

MORE CLUES

Leaders of the expedition were agreed that future efforts would require advance camps on the west side of Survey Mountain, better weather and more clues to narrow the search area.

A number of Victorians have volunteered information and someone still may have the facts that will complete the jigsaw puzzle of evidence.

Venus Hides Secrets Behind Thick Clouds

By DR. PETER MILLMAN

This is the second of 10 articles by Dr. Millman, astrophysicist with the National Research Council in Ottawa, outlining nature of the worlds of our solar system and perils space travellers will face.

Although Venus is the closest to us of the worlds of space, excepting always our own moon, it is in many ways the greatest mystery of all. The planet hides its secrets beneath a thick and impenetrable layer of clouds. When it is closest to us, we see only the dark side, and when the bright sunlit surface is visible, Venus appears close to the sun and is lost in the glare.

In our observations of Venus, about all we are able to see is the top of the thick clouds. What lies underneath?

* * *

We can say something about conditions on Venus.

Since it is almost the same size and mass as the Earth, the force of gravity is very similar, just 88 per cent that found here. The exact time taken to turn on its axis is unknown, but it is not as long as the Venusian year, 225 days, because we are fairly sure that one face is not always turned to the sun. Also, the period is not as short as one of our days, or we could detect it. Astronomers have guessed at about a month for the rotation period of Venus, and guess is the right word.

The average temperature at the top of the clouds on the nightside is some 10 or 20 degrees below zero fahrenheit when measured in infra-red light, but over 400 degrees above when measured by radio waves. The reason for this discrepancy is not known. The day side of Venus has temperatures ranging from 130 to 250 degrees above zero.

* * *

The clouds on Venus contain more carbon dioxide than has been found anywhere else in our system. If this gas were separated from the other atmospheric constituents it would extend for well over half a mile above the surface of the planet. And this is only what we can see above the opaque clouds. Much more may lie below.

Just recently evidence of water vapor on Venus has been found from records made with a telescope carried aloft in a balloon. The density of the Venusian atmosphere at the planet's surface is probably more than 10 times that of Earth's atmosphere.

Two basic but opposite theories have been proposed concerning the conditions at the solid surface of Venus:

- One suggests it is dry and hot, the scene of endless dust storms that continually hide the surface from outside view.
- The other states that the planet is completely covered by a great ocean under dense vapor clouds.

As in the case of some of the other planets, we may soon have the answer to such questions through space-launched instruments.

LONG AND SHORT

A ton weight in North America is called a "short ton" in world statistics, weighing 2,000 pounds compared to the 2,240 pounds for the British, or "long ton."

Spare the Tattling

FAIR-MINDED people all over the world will note with satisfaction that the Queen Mother has won a court injunction to prevent one of her former servants publishing his memoirs about his royal service.

The defendant, Mr. David J. Payne, who had been a footman in Clarence House where both the Queen Mother and Princess Margaret resided until the Princess married Mr. Anthony Armstrong Jones, no doubt anticipated attaining some degree of off-beat fame in peddling little snippets of royal gossip not generally known—or wanted—by the public.

Already basking in such notoriety is Princess Margaret's former butler, Mr. Thomas Cronin whose wagging tongue put him on the front page of the world's press and resulted in him landing a $15,000-a-year job (with free food, clothing and accommodation) at an elite Florida tourist club.

However much the public may sympathize with Mr. Payne's ambitions to follow in Mr. Cronin's lucrative footsteps, the average citizen will only experience revulsion at the idea that this must be accomplished at the expense of the Royal Family.

The Queen and her family hold a unique position of respect and affection not only in her own realms but throughout the world. Their duties and responsibilities are great and little they do escapes public notice.

Surely in their own homes, at least, they should be allowed the same rights of privacy as are afforded everyone else, without living under the constant fear that some flunky is spying on every personal word or gesture impatiently waiting to rush it into print.

English butlerdom, always a highly respected profession, has received a deadly blow through Mr. Cronin's reprehensible actions. It is not hard to imagine the strain put upon the members of Florida's Danai Jai Alai Palace in their confidential chit-chat during the past few months. After all, Mr. Cronin might be inclined to publish his memoirs on club affairs at some future date.

At least the public have been spared Mr. Payne's tittle-tattling.

Secrecy Won't Help

IF THE City Council wants to meet in private with the Arena commission as a prelude to a full inquiry into the trouble that has developed there, well and good. Staff problems are usually something best dealt with free from kibitzers eager only for some florid excitement. The present situation demands a wider examination, however.

The council may rightly want to hear the facts as the commission—its agent in the operation of the Arena—sees them, although judging by some of the comments already made public there is a lack of clarity about its views. After that a public hearing had better be held if doubt is not to remain. The public has been aroused by the rumors and questions bruited about and a secret conclusion of the matter will not remove these. Instead it will amplify them. Where there is nothing to fear no one should object to the trouble being thrashed out in the open.

There are for instance the claims of the six employees who resigned en bloc. They have engaged legal counsel to present their case and are entitled to be heard. It is patently a serious condition of affairs that all the Arena staff should quit at once; individuals do not take such a drastic step without very good reason, especially when it means they will be out of a job. The inference is warranted that this was the only method by which they could draw attention to operating conditions at the Arena which they found unsatisfactory, and, apparently, unbearable.

Inescapably this mass resignation suggests disagreement on a major scale with the present manager of the Arena. That means his efficiency or his methods or his capacity as a staff leader are in question. It is therefore in his interests also that the trouble should be cleared up so that no legacy of doubt or mistrust remains. Who or what is mostly to blame for the current flare-up is presently unknown but that is what the council and the commission must judge and get the situation amicably settled if Arena business is to prosper as it should. And it must be settled in a manner that gives the public confidence for the future.

'Summer Time' in October

DURING the resort and motel operators' convention in Victoria last week no one said anything about extending daylight saving time as one way of encouraging tourists to travel in the off-season months. The oversight—if that's what it was—is unfortunate because the convention could have been a good vehicle for bringing this to the attention of the British Columbia government.

By coincidence, also, while the meeting was in progress in Victoria the electors of the State of Washington were voting universal daylight saving time into effect in their state.

It has always been a minor mystery why summer time should have to end in late September when the kind of weather the Pacific seaboard enjoys favors outdoor activities for at least another month.

The period could be extended to late October without loss or inconvenience to anyone—with the possible exception of the electric light companies—because by that time of year the causes of objection have been removed by the sun's journey southward. It is in midsummer, not in early autumn, that farmers and parents of small children are heard from.

It is not suggested that tourists would flock to Victoria just because of an extension of summer time. But an extra hour of daylight in October would give them more time for travelling, golf and the various other amusements and attractions which bring them here.

A campaign to persuade the government to add another month comes too late in March or April. Now is the time when organizations which would like to see daylight saving time continued until late October should be making their requests to the government. Once the order in council setting the dates has been passed there is little likelihood of it being varied.

Interpreting the News

Africa and Kennedy

By ALAN HARVEY, Canadian Press Staff Writer

AMID the huzzas of welcome for President-elect Kennedy, a small voice may be heard cheeping concern over Africa.

There are some who feel the liberal-minded senator may set too hot a pace in that sensitive continent.

★ ★ ★

Once he settles into office, runs the argument, Kennedy may do a little heavy breathing to speed up the "wind of change." He may, it is thought, put pressure on the nationalist government in South Africa, where American business circles exert some influence, and try to persuade Britain to accelerate African advance in Kenya and the Federation of Rhodesia and Nyasaland.

As some see it, this will produce Congo-like situations, or worse. Then the United States will step in and Russia will follow suit, widening the area of ideological contest in Africa.

★ ★ ★

Such a view is obviously hypothetical. Kennedy is likely to be engaged on other fronts for some time. His first African test may well come in Algeria, where French policies have caused America disquiet.

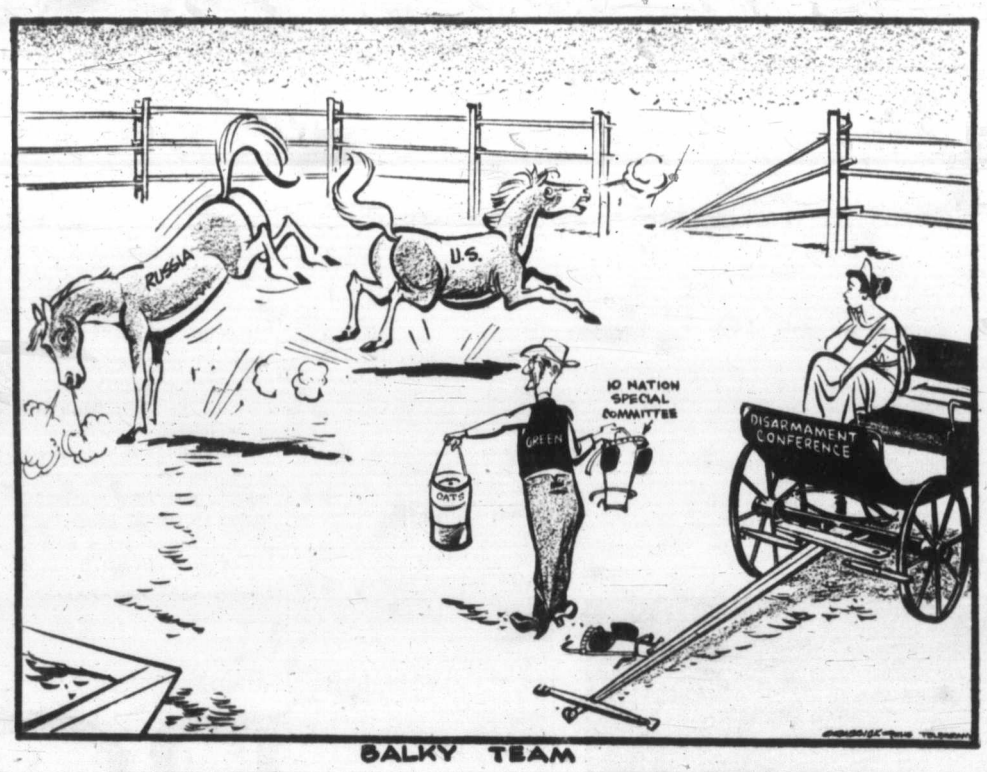
The French are already said to be "nervous" about Kennedy's feeling on Algeria.

In relation to Africa as a whole, British influence will be on the side of prudence and moderation. Whitehall is still glowing with gratification over the independence celebrations in Nigeria, where African gratitude to the departing British overlords resulted in some sentimental scenes that caused many a stiff upper lip to tremble.

★ ★ ★

One official who was present at these celebrations said he feels the Russians have suffered a defeat of some magnitude in Africa. He said they had misplayed their hand in the Congo and shown little understanding of events in Nigeria.

Perhaps the only important Soviet beachhead so far is in Guinea, and the chances are left-wing Premier Sekou Toure already rues the day he opened his country to "helpers" from Russia, Czechoslovakia and China.



BALKY TEAM

Thinking Aloud

". . . of shoes—and ships—and sealing wax—of cabbages and kings."

By TOM TAYLOR

A FRIEND suggests to me that a headline we had the other day—"Greeter in Kilts"—betokens rather an overdressed fellow, as though it were so cold on the B.C. coast we needed double wrappings to keep warm. In fact of course it would be the little gremlin who likes to gum up the works, as they say in the best circles, who did us wrong. The letter "s" is so often associated with the letter "t" no doubt he hated to see them parted.

Verily of course the kilt needs no plurality and when on a lone individual it is complete in itself. It is a very singular adornment but in the semantic sense. The grammar comes into it when there is a line of kilts on display, either in a shop window or in the Armoury when the Canadian Scottish are on parade.

One kilt, actually, is enough for any man, as every new recruit feels when he drapes this distinguished garment round his hips for the first time. Like a new suit it takes a bit of getting used to, as all good things should. A man has to walk with the kilt as though he didn't know he had it on. I don't mean that he should forget to put it on, ye gods no, that would land him in the police station—outside the Armoury anyway—but that it should swing as though it belonged to him and wasn't just a borrowed plume. You know how it is when a man first sets forth in a new suit; he thinks everyone is looking at him and spotting its newness. Not until it settles round his odd corners does he feel at home.

You can imagine, then, how a new recruit would feel if he wore kilts and not just the kilt.

It's not only the military recruit who has to grow into this garment, either; all and sundry round the world co-opt this elegant and convenient form of dress — and how they co-opt it. Highlanders of old must stir in their graves as they note the backdrop hanging like a forlorn tail on some folks whose vanity ran away with their good sense. Neither the singular kilt nor the plural kilts should drip disconsolately like washing on a line, you know.

Talking about the kilt I believe that in some Boy Scout circles they're wondering whether to adopt it instead of the shorts made famous by B-P. Teen-agers think they are somewhat sissy in these emasculated trousers and the idea is that the kilt, fit for both boyish and mannish figures, would give Scouting a fresh fillip. I wouldn't wonder if it would cause a record enrolment. It would help adult Scouts with bony knees, too, for when properly worn the kilt splits the kneecap and that would be a saving grace; it would hide half the bones.

It was a Vancouver bloke who brought up this "Greeter in Kilt(s)" subject, casting around for some garb for city receptionists that would identify that city. Vancouver being full of possessive instincts the suggestion was that either a piper, a dogwood label or a Mountie would fill the bill. All these belong, or might be claimed, by any other B.C. centre. I guess they've run out of ideas over there. Pity they hadn't thought of Captain Discovery, a sheer B.C. invention if ever there was one. But sleepy old Victoria beat them to it.

Fancy, just for the fun of it, Captain Discovery in a kilt!

Reports from Ottawa

THE big sales drive is on: the campaign to convince farmers and business men that what they want is the return of the Conservative government to office in the next election.

This new and important political development, which I foretold in a column analysing the recent cabinet shake-up, has taken less than a month to become evident in word and deed.

"Let me tell you," said the new agriculture minister, Alvin Hamilton, in a nation-wide televised broadcast on Nov. 2, "of some of the major measures that we have put on the statute books to meet the basic needs of the farmer in today's economy . . . to bring justice to agriculture . . . to help the farmer achieve parity of income."

The pitch: "for your support and your understanding" — and one can safely assume "your vote"—"as we develop and unfold new programs" of farm aid.

Five days later Hamilton was in Regina addressing a meeting of the Saskatchewan Wheat Pool. Wheat exports, he pointed out, had increased by 25,000,000 bushels a year since the Tories took office (mainly through give-aways and non-commercial long-term credit—"a heavy burden," Hamilton admitted, "on the taxpayer"). Answer to the wheat surplus problem, and the problem of prairie farm income, the minister indicated, is new government assistance to diversify the Western farm economy and thus reduce wheat production. He emphasized that the answer is not any form of additional subsidy, for that would only encourage farmers to grow more wheat.

In the next few weeks Hamilton has scheduled six more speeches to important farm groups — the farm writers, the 4-H clubs, Ottawa Valley dairymen, and the three prairie farm unions. The message will be the same:

"Look what we've done. Just be patient and understanding, and let us do some more."

Hamilton will belabor the obvious: that the Conservative government has been lavish in spending the taxpayers' dollars on the farming segment of the population. He will try to soft-sell the idea that Prime Minister Diefenbaker was wise in refusing western demands for deficiency payments on wheat. And he will hold out the prospect that new farm aid programs in the making will get at the roots of the farmer's economic troubles.

★ ★ ★

The approach to business men is a promise of leadership in a team attack on the problem of export sales. The new trade minister, George Hees, sees himself as "the sales manager of a team." As such, he has called a two week's conference of Canada's 111 foreign trade commissioners to start here on Nov. 30. But they won't merely talk over their problems with Hees and government officials; they will have face-to-face talks as well with business men invited to the conference.

The government wants "a full partnership" with business men in trade development, Hees said—"joint support and co-operation."

The project is big and showy, and it may be a little too rah-rah for business men whose only desire is to make a buck. Also it's like preaching to the converted. Any sales enthusiasm the meeting generates will be all to the good, but after the shouting has died down Canadian goods will still be sold — or not sold—on the basis of price, quality, delivery and service.

They're All Bad Guys

By GREGORY CLARK

A FICTION writer of my acquaintance has spent all the past spring, summer and autumn in a hideaway writing a series of scripts for either TV or radio based on what he believes to be a new theme.

"In these dramas," he tells me, "there are no good guys. They are all bad guys. Bad guys fighting bad guys."

"Who wins?" I asked, alarmed. "One of the bad guys," said he. "I'm sick and tired, and I think the public is sick and tired, of the good guys always winning. It isn't true to life, and everybody knows it."

"Oh, come now!" I protested.

"It's a fact," said he. "All history consists of bad guys battling with other bad guys. It looks at first as if a good guy won. But soon after he turns out to be a bad guy; and some other bad guy, for the moment looking like a good guy, comes along and beats him. And so on. In business, as any employee knows, all the bad guys get to the top. And up there, they're all fighting one another. In real life, all the main excitement is bad guys fighting bad guys."

"Have you sold the series?" I asked.

"No," said he.

Exit the 'Mick'

(From The Kingston Whig-Standard)

THE sailor's hammock has finally been pensioned off, and hundreds of "matelots" who served in the Second World War will echo "and not before they were due."

There may be some old naval hands who will swear by the hammock or "micks," but there are just as many of them who will swear at them.

Hundreds of cadets and embryo sailors have persevered with the pesky sleeping contraptions mainly because they knew they had no choice in the matter. It was a case of sleeping in them or staying awake in them. Many veterans of the sea have manfully sworn that it is the only way to sleep, that they "never slept so well as they did in the old 'micks' and never will again."

Many hundreds more had no use for the "swinging things" and seldom hesitated to say so. These are the people who will be most gratified by the present changes even though they may feel "they came 20 years too late."

The Royal Canadian Navy started installing bunks in 1947 and now hammocks are used only in three tribal class destroyers. These ships will be replaced in a few years. The Royal Navy began converting to bunks in 1958. The aircraft carrier Victorious was the first large British warship for nearly 500 years to have no hammocks.

It is suggested that bunks do not compensate for the roll of the ship the way hammocks did. It is quite probable that modern sailors are able to get along without this "advantage."

What must hurt the old salts most is the ignominious end dreamed up for surplus hammocks. They are folded and sewn up the sides to make bags for dirty clothes and mail.

Time They Quit

Europe's Old Men

By CASSANDRA, from London

EUROPE is probably in greater disarray than she has been since the late 1930s.

France under de Gaulle, who despises the United Nations and treats NATO with contempt, is all over the place. The Algerian problem is no nearer a solution and, in the face of threats from Khrushchev, France with a huge Communist party might not prove to be a reliable ally.

In Britain the official opposition has gone neutralist and General Norstad, the Supreme Allied Commander of NATO, was shouted down in Coventry when he pleaded the cause of collective security.

Dr. Adenauer, scheming yet inflexible, dominates a divided Germany.

Italy is weakened.

Belgium is gravely discredited over the Congo and even General Franco has apparently come under the shadow of Papal disapproval.

The old, old men who are still masters of Europe can hardly be proud of their handiwork.

And they ARE old: Adenauer 84; Gronchi 73; Salazar 71; de Gaulle 69; Franco 68; Tito 68 and even Macmillan is nearer 70 than 60.

It is more than time that some of these venerable botchers gave up.

The Two Types

IN the last war most of the regular officers and certainly a majority of the generals were alarmed and filled with distaste at finding themselves surrounded by millions of civilians dressed up as soldiers.

"Utility jobs" was their disapproving description of the newcomers.

Sandhurst itself was not sacred and thousands of chaps who had never seen a game of polo, never stuck a pig and never swallowed a glass of port swarmed into that elegant Valhalla.

One of the civvy intruders who did most to convince the Professionals that the Amateurs weren't totally unclean was a cartoonist whose professional name was Jon and who joined the Welsh Guards as a ranker.

Later on in the war after being in the desert he drew cartoons, which caught on overnight, for the British Army Newspaper Unit—so much so that his "Two Types" with their bizarre and dishevelled attire rivalled Old Bill of the First World War.

Now they are recalled to the colors and republished again in a collection of Jon's liveliest drawings.

Field Marshal Earl Alexander of Tunis has written a foreword in which he confesses that he too was "equally guilty of disregard for the established order of dress."

This from the most elegant of all the field marshals is no mean tribute. But I doubt that had it not been for Jon, a hair would ever have been out of place.

The cartoons are packed with laughs for anyone who trod the road (or much more likely did it by three-tonner or jeep) from Cairo to Tunis and from Tunis to the Appian Way.

I warmly recommend Jon's book.

The Harmony Twins

AUBERON WAUGH'S new novel, "The Foxglove Saga," as described in the Daily Express: "The Book of the Moment . . . the most-talked-of first novel since 'Room at the Top' . . . of Mr. Waugh's work Graham Greene has said 'It is superb.'"

Auberon Waugh's new novel as described by the Sunday Express book critic: "I can say without doubt that it is one of the most heartless, disagreeable books I have ever read."

I like the suggested title for one of those throbbing, longing, yearning, I'll-die-for-you top-of-the-pop records that have the teenagers swooning in eternal love.

It is "Unforgettable Miss What's-Her-Name."

Dangerous Bolshevik

WHEN Mr. Khrushchev was questioned in New York as to what book he was carrying, he said: "Tolstoi—a most dangerous Bolshevik!"

I commend Chapter 16 of another work of Tolstoi called "What Then Shall We Do?" to Nikita who is the absolute ruler of millions—whether they like it or not:

"I sit on a man's back, choking him and making him carry me, and yet assure myself and others that I am very sorry for him and wish to ease his lot by all possible means—except by getting off his back."

With the Classics

Let us not always say,
"Spite of this flesh today
I strove, made head, gained ground upon the whole!"
As the bird wings and sings,
Let us cry, "All good things
Are ours, nor soul helps flesh more, now, than flesh helps soul!"

Letters to the Editor

Prevention First

I find it impossible to follow the reasoning of Dr. P. C. Livingston's letter which appeared in your edition of Nov. 11. In this day and age that there is a physician who does not believe in preventative medicine is astounding.

The future of medicine, I hope and pray, will be not to graduate in medicine for the purpose of alleviating human suffering and of curing disease, but of knowing how to prevent the suffering of diseases. I must admit, however, that there are not many who are capable of distinguishing between the normal and abnormal, for the simple reason that the teaching in the medical schools has deteriorated. The cause of this, is the tendency of over-specialization.

I am certain that if a complete check-up were made on every individual by a competent physician, the larger percentage would be found to have abnormalities that could be corrected before the necessity comes to alleviate their suffering, and occupying a bed in the over-crowded hospitals. Thus many man-hours of lost time would be saved.

I would like to congratulate Dr. Molner in advocating more and better doctors, even though the B.C. Medical Council claims that there are too many doctors in the Province of British Columbia!

I would like to see a clinic in Victoria where the apparently normal individual will attend to be kept in good health, so that such crippling diseases as paraplegics, multiple sclerosis, heart conditions, arthritis, cancer, etc., could be prevented.

It seems to me that the "softening process" is on the side of medicine instead of the public.

Medical Overhaul

I note in your columns a letter under the heading of "Softening Process." Although only a layman, I am wondering if your distinguished correspondent is right in his contention that "routine annual medical overhaul does little to assure anything in relation to survival."

With due respect to his well-made point in the following paragraph, it is known that many physicians do advise it. As a result of such an examination, if the patient is well, he should feel like a million dollars. If on the other hand he is found to be in need of treatment, surely it is better that this fact should be discovered in time, in his own interests?

Does it really "tire and disorientate the busy practitioner" to perform a routine physical examination for which he receives an adequate fee?

Minutes and Lives

When are we going to cry "Enough!"

Week after week, the headlines tell of death and serious injury on our highways. Fatalities, injuries, property damage are all rising.

The traffic toll was steadily dropping until this demand for higher speeds was started. Now we find more and more cars going out of control, smashing into bridges, poles and each other, being forced off of highways. Traffic police are forced to endanger their own and other people's lives in an effort to keep everything moving at the stepped-up speeds.

This emphasis on speed rather than safety must inevitably influence the average motorist's attitude toward driving, particularly the irresponsible younger driver and drinking driver who, urged to drive at top speeds when sober, will step on it even harder when his judgment is impaired.

The time has come for British Columbia citizens to demand a return to some measure of sanity on the roads all must use. Surely buses and cars can start a little earlier to catch planes and ferries? Are minutes worth more than lives?

Pensioners Abroad

In your editorial headed "Easing Their Burden," dated Nov. 10, you speak approvingly of the new ruling which permits pensioners to draw their allowance while living abroad. You say that "there will be small drain on the nation," because of this, but I submit that there will be no drain at all.

Any professional economist will tell you that "money cannot cross frontiers," and this, in practical terms, means that those Canadian dollars, which the pensioner appears to spend abroad, must in fact find their way home again and be spent by someone in this country.

What the pensioner actually does is to exchange his dollars for local currency—pounds, francs, pesos, or whatever it may be—and the other party to the transaction only accepts them because he wishes to use them to buy Canadian goods. The intricate wheels of commerce and exchange may obscure the position, so that even cabinet ministers appear to believe what you imply, but in essence the position is as I have stated it.

Why Use the Park?

Regarding the Speakers' Corner at Beacon Hill, it seems a shame to encroach still further on the beauties of the park by again enlarging the space reserved for car parking.

As the people who form the audience at these meetings are not primarily interested in the scenery, why use the park at all? It would surely be more sensible to utilize the government parking lot for this purpose. There would be unlimited parking facilities, plenty of room for everybody, and a much more convenient situation into the bargain. And, best of all, the park would be saved the extra wear and tear of the crowds.

Thank you so much for printing Mr. Chestnut's article, "Charm Killed Sneers" in the Nov. 11 Colonist. It was beautifully written, and made one homesick for our gentle English countryside.

Beauty is indeed in the eye of the beholder, and how nice to think it was in the eyes of Mr. Chestnut, so that he was able so vividly to portray the small things that mean so much to an English person living in another country. I echo his wish and prayer that it remains always and forever England.

Thank you, too, Mr. Chestnut, for all your helpful hints and advice on beautifying our lawns and gardens, so that we may all help to make Victoria a fairer and more beautiful place.

How to Antagonize

Do not the business men of Victoria realize that the best way to lose friends and antagonize people is to send out mail (especially advertising and soliciting mail) with insufficient postage on it?

If they must get their mailing lists from the telephone directory cannot they note the addressee's exchange letters? The diagram on page 6 of their telephone directory will show in most cases whether he is in the four-cent zone or not.

Apparently they mail first-class mail to anybody in the telephone directory (in other words, to anyone on the whole Saanich Peninsula from Victoria to Sidney) with a four-cent stamp. This happens to most of us two or three times a month.

A chap along the block from me insists that they just don't know four cents is for local mail only, but I can't believe that. Of course, he is the sarcastic type.

China Biggest Worry

* * *

Kennedy Adviser Looks to Future

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. Chester Bowles predicted Monday that Russia might modify its tough stand toward the West if Communist China continues to be expansionist and aggressive.

Bowles, one of John Kennedy's top foreign policy advisers and a possible secretary of state, emphasized this would take time.

In a copyrighted interview with U.S. News and World Report, he said: "Our task is to block or neutralize (the) Soviet effort at economic and political dominance, so the nations of Asia, Africa and Latin America can develop in their own way, without need for dependence on the Communists."

Bowles said he would be inclined to assume Red China would remain aggressive.

"Then the Soviet Union, having failed to split the Atlantic alliance and to secure a dominant position in Asia, Africa and Latin America, might be more willing to develop a more rational relationship to us and to our friends in Europe."

Bowles said he would continue to oppose diplomatic recognition of Red China. The Chinese worry him more than Russia.

"I would not expect war to be launched by the Soviet Union unless through some tragic miscalculation," he said. "I am not certain that fear of war means so much to China, if you can believe the chilling statements of her leaders."

Bowles said three factors would affect the 1960's—the spread to other countries of nuclear weapons; China, likely to be "an enormous growing force in world affairs" and "the strength and influence of the uncommitted countries."

Now Shell makes special gasolines for the West Coast—to prevent stalling even on the dampest days

In West Coast Winters, dampness is a major cause of engine stalling. Read how moisture turns to ice in your carburetor even on mild days! And how Shell's Winter gasolines are specially fortified to prevent stalling even in the dampest weather.

ORDINARY WINTER gasolines often fail to keep engines from stalling here on the West Coast of Canada.

These same gasolines work well enough in really cold climates. But during our mild Winters, dampness is a major reason engines stall.

Ice at fifty degrees

Here's what happens when you start your car. As soon as your engine turns over, the temperature inside your carburetor can drop as much as thirty degrees!

You can see what that means. Even if it's a mild fifty degrees outside, it's below freezing in your carburetor. As your freezing-cold carburetor gulps damp air from outside, the moisture in the air turns to ice. And your car stalls.

Shell's West Coast gasolines

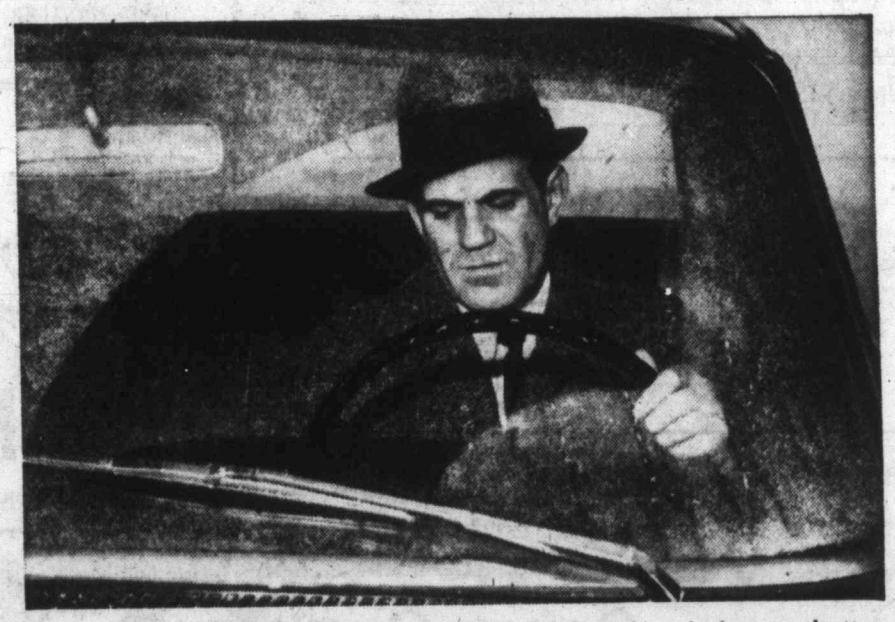
When you fill up at any Shell service station on the West Coast of Canada, you get gasoline made specially for driving in our damp, Winter weather.

At Shellburn refinery, a special anti-stalling ingredient is added to the Winter gasolines. The name of this ingredient is Shell's Additive 182. It wins the battle by joining forces with the enemy. As soon as moisture gets into your carburetor, Additive 182 mixes with it to prevent it from freezing.

And there's enough Additive 182 in Shell gasolines to protect you against stalling even when the relative humidity is 100 per cent.

Quick starts

All year round, Shell is primed with Butane, to give quick-starts. Butane is so eager to get started that it will actually vaporize by itself unless stored under pressure at the refinery.



Shell's special West Coast gasolines stop moisture in the air from turning to ice in your carburetor.

In Winter, Shell increases the dose of Butane. Think what this means on a chilly morning. Your engine fires in seconds. And a big strain is taken off your battery.

At Shellburn, still another ingredient is added to Shell Gasolines to give you quick warm-ups.

Its name is Iso-pentane. It is made by tearing gasoline apart, at the refinery, much as you split kindling to start a log fire.

In this case, the "logs" are petroleum's heavier hydrocarbons. These hydrocarbons are actually split up, and their heavy molecules are transformed from slow-burning "logs" to quick-firing "kindling".

The result is that your engine warms up quickly to give you top performance fast.

Test West Coast Shell yourself

Next time you fill up, why not try one of Shell's exclusive West Coast gasolines? You will be well protected against driving troubles caused by our damp, chilly Winter weather. You will get the same top performance that Shell always give you, no matter what the season.

Fare 'Beef' Planned

City council plans "a very vigorous protest" against Trans-Canada Air Lines raising the Victoria-Vancouver fare by 40 per cent.

This decision was made yesterday at an informal meeting in the office of Mayor Percy Scurrah, who returned Saturday from a trip east during which he saw TCA president Gordon R. MacGregor.

"He gave me a darn good sales talk on the reason for increasing the fares," the mayor said. "They made a study for the last year and the graph of costs they came up with shows that, if they followed it, the fare would have to be $12 each way between Victoria and Vancouver."

From a "cold-blooded business point of view," the mayor said, TCA could justify increasing the return fare to $14.

"But from the point of view of service to the people of a capital city, after consulting this morning, council has decided that we think it would be wise to make a very vigorous protest."

DROP SERVICE

Mayor Scurrah said he had asked Mr. MacGregor if TCA wanted to drop the Victoria-Vancouver service, "but he said, 'No, we don't.'"

Firemen Still Fight 'Worst' London Fire

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Firemen were striving late Monday to reach a leaking gas main following what is described as the city's worst fire in more than 25 years.

Smoke hung over the city this evening as firemen continued to pour water on the ruins of the brick-constructed Wellington Building, housing the Lounge and Belmont restaurants and the office of Easton Fisher, stockbrokers.

Chief Mathers estimated damage at "more than $500,000."

Big Apartment Block Approved in Oak Bay

Oak Bay council agreed last night to draw up a bylaw for rezoning of land adjoining the Oak Bay Beach Hotel to allow construction of a six-storey, $1,000,000 apartment block.

Council will give the bylaw two readings, then hold a public hearing for discussion of the rezoning.

Acting on behalf of the owners, lawyer Louis F. Lindholm told council construction of the building would have far-reaching consequences on the economy of the municipality.

He said plans are to spend $1,000,000 on construction of the block and taxes on the land would mushroom from the present $400 to $10,000.

Mr. Lindholm urged council to hold a public hearing in order to obtain an expression of opinion. "I say this concerns many more people than those in the immediate area," he said.

At an earlier council meeting a group of ratepayers led by Sir Robert Holland spoke out against rezoning.

Finance chairman Newell Morrison told the meeting association finances are $4,000 in the red.

Bruce Cosgrove, chairman of the recent Saanich Anglers-Lions Club fishing derby, presented the association with a cheque for $1,200.

Staging, Dancing Make Success of 'Caledonia'

By BERT BINNY

Sensitive and precise staging and movement, inspired musical arrangements and some superb Highland dancing made the "Caledonia" program of the Singers and Dancers of Scotland a complete success last night at the Royal Theatre.

The program was highlighted by Highland dancing by world champion Flora Stuart Grubb and Billy Forsyth. All the soloists were pleasing: soprano Hilda Wilson, baritone Robert Brotherton and tenor George Boyd Muir.

In a polished and lively chorus of singers and dancers, Sheila Smith stood out as one who knew what she was doing and enjoyed doing it.

"Caledonia" provided consistently delightful entertainment, with "Strathallan Gathering," "The Queens Marys" and "Hebridean Fantasy" especially pleasing.

Mayor Chills Parley

ALBERNI — An offer from the inspector of municipalities to meet with council here on Tuesday had been neither accepted nor rejected when council meeting adjourned Monday night.

Mayor Mabel Anderson, when the offer was presented at the regular meeting, declared that the suggested meeting with the inspector could not be held as she had not called it. She cited the Municipal Act as her authority when she snapped that only the mayor could call a meeting of the council.

When an alderman suggested that the rest of the council could meet the inspector unofficially, she declared that it would be illegal for them to discuss city business under the circumstances.

Some weeks ago, aldermen had put through a motion asking the inspector to come to the city to discuss procedural difficulties. At that time the date of Nov. 22 was suggested. Apparently the earlier date suited him better.

Salmon 'Fishermen' Hooked

Police are used to seeing strange sights in the back seats of cars they stop but Colwood RCMP found one of the strangest yet when they stopped a car about 4 a.m. Sunday.

In the back seat was the huge, carved entrance sign for Goldstream Park which features a leaping salmon as its motif. The sign, and salmon, weigh about 100 pounds.

In the front seat were Arthur Edward Calvert, 3107 Balfour, and John Peter Dickinson, 1600 Hampshire.

In Colwood RCMP court yesterday the men were each fined $50 for the theft of the sign. They were each fined a further $15 each for removing a number of traffic signs from along the Malahat.

The traffic signs were also found in the back seat of the car.

In the same court, Robert Lowe, 1044 Redfern, was fined $25 on a charge of causing a disturbance by being drunk.

Collector's Coins, Notes Stolen from Sidney Home

Gold and silver coins and old Canadian banknotes—collectors' items worth almost $400—were stolen from a Sidney house during the weekend.

The specimens, which included Centennial silver dollars and King George VI bank notes, were stolen from the home of K. G. Norgaard 11324 Chalet, Sidney.

A glass case containing the specimens was smashed in the burglary. Police are seeking a Vancouver man for questioning.

A city burglary during the weekend resulted in the theft of $6 from Shepherd's Dairy Ltd., 1645 Fort. Entrance was gained through a locked rear door and the office was ransacked.

Ten quarts of motor oil, valued at $7.50 were stolen from Tyee Shell Service, Esquimalt Road, by someone who broke open a door.

THERE MAY BE... NOW IS THE TIME TO FIND OUT

■ THERE are an estimated 100,000 undiagnosed diabetics in Canada right now. Statistics tell us that in a small Canadian town of say 22,500—371 people would be diabetic but 148 of them would not know it!

■ THANKS to the discovery of insulin by two great Canadian scientists, Dr. Charles H. Best and the late Sir Frederick Banting, diabetes need not be a disabling condition . . . if it is discovered early. Though there is no "cure" for diabetes, it can be brought under control. A diabetic can lead a full and happy life through a proper regulation of his health with insulin and an adjusted diet carefully planned by his doctor.

■ EVEN if you have no reason to think that you are diabetic, find out for sure now!

Who is likely to have it? Anyone, even small children may become diabetic. However, here are the people most likely to be affected:
- Close relatives of diabetics
- Over-forties
- Over-weights

SEND FOR FREE TEST STRIP TODAY

- Hunger
- Easy tiring
- Slow healing of cuts and bruises
- Intense itching
- Drowsiness
- Excessive urination
- Loss of weight
- Changes in vision
- Pain in fingers and toes

Complete the coupon (at right) and mail it. The Canadian Diabetic Association will send you an easy-to-use test strip with full instructions. The service is free, of course.

Industrials Continue Steady Gains

TORONTO (CP) — Industrials scored their 11th consecutive advance on a listless stock market.

Texaco Canada, Minnesota and Ontario Paper, Price Brothers and Dominion Glass paced industrial winners. Bank of Montreal led a mixed bank section.

Ford of Canada topped losers.

Dome Weakens

MONTREAL (CP) — The Montreal and Canadian Stock exchanges closed lower. Trading was light.

Dominion Bridge at 16¼ fell one point to lead losers.

Winners included Canadian Oil at 21⅞ up ⅝.

In mines, Dome fell 2¼ at 23¾ and Hudson Bay at 46½ eased ¼. Consolidated Smelters at 17⅞ declined ⅛ and Aluminium rose ⅛ at 29⅛.

Losses Predominate

NEW YORK (AP)—A weak trend prevailed throughout the day in stocks and only isolated issues progressed against it.

Such major groups as steels, autos and chemicals declined from the start. Other losers at the end included tires, aircrafts, metals, oils and rails.

Cowichan Active

VANCOUVER—Stock prices slipped in light trading. Cowichan, the most active issue, was down four cents at .20 and Silbak sagged from .30 to .26.

Industrials were fractionally lower led by MacMillan-Powell, Massey-Ferguson and B.C. Power.

Canadian Devonian at 4.65 was strong among oils.

London Stock Prices

LONDON (Reuters)—Stock markets were quiet and irregular.

There was some demand for industrials and gilt-edged securities. Steel shares were generally better.

Imported Automobiles

Up to $1,500 More

By HARRY YOUNG
Colonist Business Editor

The price of imported cars after December 1 when the government puts its higher valuation rates into effect, will rise by $200 for the "baby" utility model to $1,500 for the lordly Rolls-Royce, according to a check with local auto dealers.

None has yet official word as to what the new delivery prices for foreign cars will be, but most of them are pessimistic and depressed.

"More than half the people who buy cars in Victoria choose the foreign economy models," said one dealer. "They are going to have to pay a lot more money for their cars in future, yet the new regulations will not bring down the price of the Canadian-built car by one penny."

UP $220

A local dealer who handles one of the more popular lines of English cars estimates that a model now selling at around $2,000 will go up about $220 under the new valuation.

If this estimate is correct, then the cost of Britain's most expensive car would advance for the Canadian purchaser by $1,500 on its current price of $15,000.

Foreign cars not of British origin will be even more seriously hit because while British cars are allowed to enter Canada without tariff, they bear an import duty of 17½ per cent in addition to all the other taxations.

NO IDEA

The local agent of a leading German make of car said he had no idea what the new price would be, but thought it inevitable that the increase would be proportionately greater than on the British cars.

* * *

New Policy Will Hurt Consumer

Another dealer who also handles a German car said he had received no definite word about increases, but he had been unofficially informed that the increase "might be absorbed," and that the firm's financial experts were working out a means of circumventing the increase.

WARNING CLIENTS

The dealer added he was taking orders for these cars for delivery early in 1961, but was warning clients that they might be subject to a considerable advance in price owing to the change in the government's policy.

What the government is doing is to reduce the discount it allows to dealers on the foreign manufacturers' list price from 30 per cent to 20 per cent, and it will be on the higher net price that the duty and tax valuation will be made.

Even the local automobile firms who are handling mainly Canadian-built cars are doubtful of the wisdom behind the government's step.

Only the cars actually made in Canada by the Canadian subsidiaries of U.S. automobile manufacturing companies are exempt from the new tax valuation. Their luxury lines of cars such as Cadillac, Lincoln and Imperial, because they are manufactured in the U.S., will be subject to the new impost along with all other foreign cars.

The result is that what the Canadian-U.S. car dealers win on the swings they may lose on the roundabout.

At the latest estimate there are 55 foreign cars in the Victoria area to every 45 Canadian.

Only a few local motorists so far are taking last-minute steps to purchase new foreign cars before the price goes up, and stocks exist in Victoria showrooms for the majority of the popular foreign models.

"I don't think the average person realizes how much the foreign car price is likely to go up after December 1, otherwise there would be considerably more activity," said one dealer.

Little Girls Break New Orleans School Color Bar

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Four little Negro girls broke the color barrier of the deep South's largest city Monday, marching into two white schools escorted by federal marshals.

The two races have not been mixed in Louisiana elementary and secondary schools since shortly after the Civil War.

NO VIOLENCE

Physical resistance did not develop despite a gathering of 75 state policemen working for the state legislature, which has fought integration.

"They ought to take Judge Wright and hang him by his toes," yelled one woman at William Frantz Elementary School. District Judge J. Skelly Wright issued the desegration order last May.

WOMAN SCREAMED

When three cars containing three Negro first graders pulled up to McDonogh school, a white woman screamed: "Those black . . . I'm going in there and get my children out."

She came out holding her one child by the hand. Whites cheered.

After the actual integration 100 of the 800 white students left the two schools.

Rep. Welborn Jack questioned the sanity of Judge Wright, saying: "I just can't see that a man who will do what he (Wright) is doing, I don't see how he is entirely mentally right."

DECLARE WAR

Sen. Speedy O. Long, cousin of the late Earl Long, called for a state-wide economic boycott of Negroes to let them know "the white people of the State of Louisiana have declared war."

"Fire your colored maid," Long said. "Do not patronize any establishment that employs colored people.

"They'll pass the word around," Long said. "They won't want to come into white schools if they know they are going to have their source of income cut off. If they do there can be other effective measures used."

GEORGE CALDOUGH

Promoter Arrested

A West Vancouver stock promoter, faced with charges of defrauding the public of hundreds of thousands of dollars, has been arrested in London after the provincial attorney-general's department called in Interpol.

George Caldough, host to actor Errol Flynn the night he died in Vancouver, and Roland Smith appeared in court in London and were remanded.

Warrants have been issued under the Fugitive Offenders Act which will enable them to be brought back to Canada to face trial. The province has 30 days to get its evidence to London and to satisfy an English court that there is sufficient evidence against the pair to warrant their return.

Officials here said substantial sums allegedly obtained from U.S. investors were involved and the promoters had been operating out of Whitehorse and Vancouver.

A GENERAL MOTORS VALUE

Model illustrated: Fleetside pickup. One of Chevrolet's job-whipping line of big lightweights.

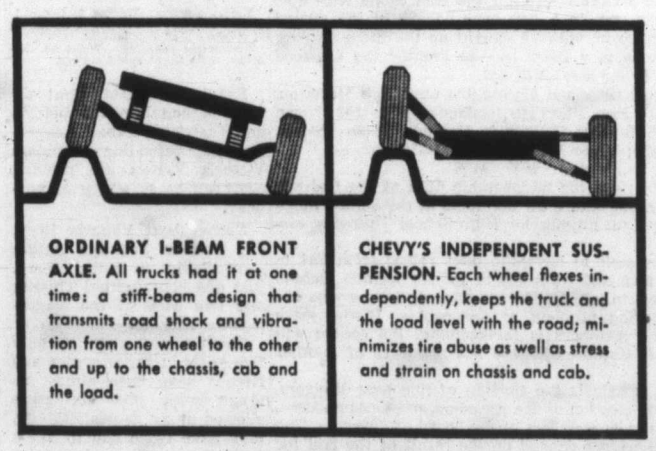
HERE! THE TRUCKS THAT RIDE SMOOTHER, WORK HARDER, LAST LONGER!

Just a year ago, Chevy came up with a torsion bar independent front suspension and has already put some 300,000 Chevrolet trucks with it out on jobs.
The ride that results from Chevy's suspension design is making life a lot easier for drivers. (Just ask them!) It's taking better care of loads, the fragile kind that used to cost somebody money if they were bounced around. Chevy's ride also enables truck owners to revise their buying habits and work their trucks longer before they trade. This follows naturally. The trucks take less of a beating. There's less stress on sheet metal. Less abuse to tires. Less pounding to wear out parts before their time. The upshot of it is, you either save money or earn more of it, or both. And you couldn't ask a truck to do more than that. See your dealer. CHEVROLET



ORDINARY I-BEAM FRONT AXLE. All trucks had it at one time: a stiff-beam design that transmits road shock and vibration from one wheel to the other and up to the chassis, cab and the load.

CHEVY'S INDEPENDENT SUSPENSION. Each wheel flexes independently, keeps the truck and the load level with the road; minimizes tire abuse as well as stress and strain on chassis and cab.

Pride and Parker Force Bombers to Play Again

WINNIPEG—A combination of pride and Parker lifted Edmonton Eskimos to an upset 10-5 victory over Winnipeg Blue Bombers here last night and left the Western Interprovincial Football Union title resting on a return game here Saturday.

It was the fierce pride of old pros like Johnny Bright, Rollie Miles, Normie Kwong and Jackie Parker that transformed Edmonton from a crippled club back to the kind that ruled Canadian football for three seasons—the old "grind-it-out-and-keep-the-ball" champions of the Pop Ivy era.

THE BIG PLAY

And it was Parker, the wraith-like magician of the Edmonton backfield, who rallied those forces time and again, then scored the game's only touchdown—the winning points—on a darting, twisting 19-yard roll-out play.

Beaten, 22-16, in Saturday's opener, Esks were minus tackle Toby Deese and half-back Cowboy Woodruff. Bill Smith played in the defensive backfield with a broken forearm and intercepted a pass. Al Ecuyer went through the entire game of vicious line play still suffering the effects of a concussion received Saturday.

KENNY MISSED

Bombers, forced to use rookie Vernon Cole at quarterback all the way because of Kenny Ploen's cracked wrist, could never mount a sustained offence. Without the running threat of Ploen, Esks were able to concentrate on stopping Charlie Shepard, Leo Lewis and Carver Shannon—a job they handled masterfully.

The one time they did seem ready to score a touchdown, Howie Shumm intercepted Cole's pass in the second quarter at his own 35-yard line and carried to Winnipeg's 37. Parker passed to Miles and Jo-Bob Smith, then went on his patented roll-out play for the touchdown that sent them ahead, 9-4. Tommy-Joe Coffey's convert attempt was blocked.

From the start the game was a battle of defensive units. Smith's interception on Winnipeg's second play from scrimmage gave Esks the ball on the Bomber 37-yard line, but two plays netted just three yards and they had to settle for a single on Coffey's wide field goal attempt.

SECOND MISS

Bombers promptly fumbled on their first play, and Esks recovered on the Winnipeg 25-yard line. Again they were forced to kick, and again got just one point as Coffey was wide on a 16-yard placement.

Winnipeg took the lead on a field goal by Gerry James after recovering a fumbled punt by Miles on the Edmonton 45-yard line.

Vic Chapman and Shepard exchanged kicks for single points, Parker got his touchdown, and Cole quick-kicked for a point to make it 9-5 on the last play of the half.

WASTED EFFORT

That was to be all for Bombers, although they had two good chances in the rugged second half. Carver Shannon galloped 64 yards to Edmonton's 46-yard line to start the third quarter, then fumbled while trying to shift past the last two men. Edmonton recovered.

Then, in the last quarter, Bombers marched to Edmonton's 20-yard line, but lost the ball on downs when Shannon slipped and fell on a third-and-one-yard situation with no one near him.

Another kick by Chapman got Esk's last point.

Bright, Parker and Kwong did all the rushing for Esks. Bright went 91 yards in 18 carries, Parker got 62 yards in 10 carries, and Kwong ran 14 times for 42 yards.

Statistically Esks had the edge—15-13 in first downs and 199-178 in yards rushing. Cole and Lewis completed seven of 15 passes for 79 yards. Parker and Don Getty made good on nine of 12 for 75 yards.

Strike Threatened In English League

LONDON (AP) — English League soccer players Monday gave the go-ahead for strike action in their demands for more pay.

In a mass meeting, players from the South of England promised the Professional Footballers' Association—the union for 2,700 professionals in England—that they were ready to go to "any lengths" to achieve their aims. They gave the union a month in which to meet with club owners and government labor officials.

Players from other parts of England will meet in Birmingham today and Manchester Thursday to discuss pay and contract commitments.

The meetings were called after club owners refused a revision of wages.

Joe Richards, chairman of the English League, said two-thirds of the 92 clubs are "in the red" and cannot afford pay raises. The maximum weekly pay for an English League player is 20 pounds ($56).

Pete Stays Home, Jack at Kitchener But Cougars, Canucks Get Some Help

Victoria Cougars aren't going to get veteran Pete Wright this season and Vancouver Canucks, it seems, have had their hopes of getting goalkeeper Jack McCartan from the New York Rangers dashed but both clubs did make some headway in the personnel department over the weekend.

Coach George Agar of the Cougars announced yesterday that Wright has apparently decided to tend to his sporting-goods buesiness in Grande Prairie, Alta. At the same time, Agar announced that he expected a fifth defenceman, perhaps by the end of the week.

He declined to name the player in question but said that he was a veteran and one of the most colorful players in the game.

Canucks, desperately striving to get a proven netminder, had been hoping to get McCartan, star of the U.S. Olympic champions. But the Rangers announced yesterday that McCartan was being sent to Kitchener-Waterloo of the Eastern Professional League, subject to immediate recall.

This might make Claude Evans, who played here for 14 games in the 1953-54 season, available to Canucks, but no word on this was forthcoming last night. The Canucks, it is reported, are also interested in luring Al Rollins out of retirement and were closeted with Winnipeg officials at the Western Hockey League meeting in Spokane on Sunday.

But while they still haven't announced settlement of their problem in goal, the Canucks did make some headway by re-acquiring the services of rightwinger Danny Belisle.

Belisle, who had a 31-31 record for Vancouver in 1958-59 and was 24-24 last season, has been playing with the Kitchener-Waterloo entry.

Canucks said they expected a second player in time for Friday's game in Vancouver against Seattle.

TWO TO GO

Acquisition of another player would bring the Victoria roster to 17, which would mean that two players will be lopped before many more days have passed. A new ruling made Sunday now allows each WHL club to dress 15 players for each game, and it is almost certain that the Cougars will keep only one extra body.

Club owners also threw out the rookie rule at Sunday's meeting. It is no longer necessary to have any rookies but most clubs are expected to keep at least two first-year men. Canucks, who have been getting by with only one, are expected to wind up with an all-veteran roster.

Another change resulted in an automatic major penalty for spearing. There was some discussion about the unusually long time between periods in some arenas — Victoria could be one — but no action was taken.

In a special ruling directed at Victoria, it was decided that visiting teams at Memorial Arena would have the choice of deciding which goal they will defend in the first and third periods until such time as burned-out light bulbs at the south end of the arena have been replaced.

The ruling resulted from complaints that lighting in the south end, which the Cougars have had to defend only in the second period, was not as good as that in the north end.

Half Way House, apparently back on the right track now after losing its opening game, whipped Horgan's Aces, 63-48, at Mount View High gym last night for its third straight victory in the Senior "B" Men's Basketball League.

In the preliminary junior men's game, Bill Grey scored 17 points to pace Navy to a 46-23 triumph over Chinese Students.

Navy	4	2	2	19	20	4
Pattersons	4	2	2	21	20	4
Army	4	1	3	8	20	2

Last night's scores: Navy 10, Pattersons 6; IAA 3, Army 1.

Navy relocated its lost scoring punch at Memorial Arena last night and served warning it may yet be the power to reckon with in the Commercial Hockey League.

IAA took over first place with a 3-1 win over Army in the other half of the double-header, but it was Navy's 10-6 victory over Pattersons that provided the big interest for the 650 fans.

In three previous games the slumping Sailors had managed only nine goals and one victory, managing to look like anything but the team that has won the league championship two straight years. But all the Navy scoring threats were ready last night, as they had to be against a spirited Pattersons' club.

BALANCED PUNCH

Neil Standley, Bob Cook and Paul Lapointe each scored twice for Navy, and Cliff Uhren, Spud Merrifield and Bill Davidson got a goal each.

Bob Jones and Bob Fowler scored two goals each for Pattersons, who dressed only 11 players for the game and lost defenceman Paul Parnell with a leg injury early in the game. Jim Bronson and Elliott got the other goals.

Navy sank Patterson with seven goals in the second period after the losers had taken a 1-0 lead.

Gary Barlow scored two third-period goals, including the winner, to pace IAA to its third win in four games. IAA had a 1-0 lead going into the last period on a goal by Bob Harris. Barlow made it 2-0, then scored again after Stan Lafonde had pulled Army back within a single goal.

Unsighted Angler Hooks 'Cheaters'

BELMAR, N.J. (AP)—Probably nobody will believe this story, but fishing boat skipper Henry Leonard swears it's true.

Leonard took Michael Szraga out in his boat. Szraga wanted to do some deep sea fishing. Bobbing about in the Atlantic, Szraga's bifocal spectacles slithered off his nose and into the water.

"I'll never see them again," Szraga moaned. Ten minutes later when Szraga reeled in, there were his glasses on the hook.

Said Leonard:

"I still don't know how that fish hook picked up the frame and held fast all the way to the top."

AT THE 19th

With Harry Young

Arrangements have been completed to play the Christmas Tree Golf Tournament at Uplands on Monday, December 26.

The men will play the usual 18 holes, while the ladies will play the back nine holes only. The change in conditions for the ladies is due to the fact that they will not have a separate course to themselves on this occasion, and the hours of daylight will not permit of their playing the full 18.

As a result while the entry fee for men will remain at the usual $5, ladies will be asked to pay only $3.50, the $1.50 concession being for half a green fee.

Men will start at the first and 10th tees from 8 a.m., with the first tee being closed at 9.30. This will allow the ladies to take over at the 10th tee from 11.30 onwards.

Details of the maximum number of players who will be able to participate will be given later, but it seems likely that the arrangement will accommodate about 110 men and 60 ladies.

The Daily Colonist will as usual act as hosts to the tournament the usual festive fare as well as trophies for the winners of the events.

The Hudson's Bay Company is continuing its Santa Claus act whereby everyone taking part will receive a souvenir of the competition.

George Bigelow of Victoria and Art Donaldson of Gorge Vale are tied for the lead in the City Winter Medal, each with a two rounds aggregate of 143, but the start of the second round at Colwood Sunday was Ron MacLeod.

The Jasper pro, who plays during the winter at the Victoria club, has a sparkling two under par 68 on a Colwood course that was playing extremely long and wasn't made easier by a sharp deterioration in the weather conditions in the early afternoon.

The only sub-par round of the day moved MacLeod up to third place, two strokes behind the leaders at 145.

Bigelow, who led the field after the first round with a 68 at his own course, ran to a five over par 75 in the second round, while Donaldson, with 72, caught up the three strokes.

Fourth place is now filled by Vic Painter the Colwood captain. He had 78 for a total of 149.

Other leading scores and aggregates were Bob Morrison, Uplands, 70-80-150; Frank Scroggs, Uplands, 76-76—152; Norm Boden, Gorge, 76-76—152; G. Pellow, Uplands, 74-80—154; K. Lawson, 75-80—155; Vince Wheatley, 79-77—156.

A proposal to raise the membership dues at the Uplands Golf Club is to be put before the members at the annual meeting of the club at Oak Bay Junior High School Thursday evening.

The sponsors seek to have the dues raised from $84 to $100 a year for men and from $50 to $65 for women. Behind the plan is a move to restrict the number of visitors who are causing a congestion problem at the course. If the extra revenue from the members is forthcoming, the course will be closed to local visitors who are not members of another club.

Also on the agenda is the election of five new directors, and following that election of the president and vice-president, both of whom must be members of the board of directors. The candidates will therefore depend on the result of the poll for directors.

Next game: Saturday, Wests vs. Nanaimo, 2.30, Royal Athletic Park.

Saanich Thistles' tight defence is the talk of the Victoria and District Football League, but the defending champion Victoria Evcoes are proving they can be as stingy as anybody.

Evcoes beat Victoria West, 4-1, Sunday and are sitting comfortably in third place, just one point behind Thistles and two back of the league-leading Kickers.

Thistles have given up only five goals in seven games and Evcoes have been almost as tough with just six goals allowed in six games although they have twice had to use a fullback in place of regular goalie Al Davies.

Bill Abbott got two goals, and Jake Blevins and Alex Stewart one each for Evcoes. Pat Mulcahy was the only man to beat Davies.

THISTLES YIELD ONE

Thistles beat Gorge Hotel, 3-1, on the strength of two goals by Dave Collett and one by George Robbins. Chummy Crabbe scored for the Pubmen.

In other Sunday games, Heaneys stayed tied with Evcoes by blanking winless Esquimalt, 6-0, and Brodie's Bakery got its first victory, a 3-2 decision at Ladysmith.

Jack Frampton, Fred Potts, George Paul, Al Boden, Doug Currie and Bill Reid all scored once for Heaneys. Gerry Both got two goals and George Guckel one for Brodie's, while George Johnson replied twice for Ladysmith.

Curling World Series

A world series for curling was a step nearer realization yesterday after the announcement that the United States champions would join the Canadian and Scottish champions in play for the Scotch Cup.

Scotch play was inaugurated in 1959, when the Canadian champions, Regina's Richardsons, won the trophy with a five-straight sweep over Scotland's best. The Richardsons repeated last March in the second cup clash.

The Scotch Cup matches will again be played in Scotland, starting March 21 in Ayr with two games. Third and fourth games will be played March 23 in Kircaldy and the final two games on March 24 in Perth.

The Canadian championships are scheduled for Calgary March 15-18, the U.S. championships in Fargo, N.D., also March 15-18.

Police Lose Trio in Crash Win Game with Survivors

Oak Bay Police, crippled by a pre-game car crash that cost them the services of three first-stringers, squeezed out a 20-19 victory over Campbell River Raiders Sunday, led by two boys who escaped the crash unhurt.

Victory actually meant little, since the game was the opener of a two-game, total-point series for the Island juvenile Canadian football championship which will be finished Sunday at Carnarvon Park at 2 p.m.

Centre Trevor Locke, linebacker Frank May and end Bob Simpson were put out of action in a car collision north of Qualicum en route to the game. Locke, who received 20 stitches for head cuts, is out of hospital but the other two are still being detained, May with facial cuts and back injuries and Simpson with a broken nose and fractured collarbone.

The three were thrown from the rear of the car, along with the back seat. Halfback Jack Collins and centre Al Foster, sitting in the front seat, were uninjured.

Collins got two touchdowns, one on a 57-yard run, the other on a 50-yard burst. Foster went two ways, replacing Locke at centre and playing linebacker, and was outstanding.

Jack Heath got the winning touchdown on a 35-yard run in the fourth quarter. Murray Pastuck added two converts. Ed Detford got two touchdowns for Raiders and converted one by Ken Kajawara.

SAM ETCHEVERRY

HAL PATTERSON

... still rated the best.

Etcheverry, Patterson Named In Big Four All-Star Voting

TORONTO—Adding a touch of irony to the most controversial, and biggest trade made in Canadian football, the selectors entrusted with naming the Big Four all-star team selected quarterback Sam Etcheverry and end Hal Patterson, the greatest passing combination in Canadian football history.

The announcement of the Canadian Press all-star team came six days after the surprising deal which sent the pair to Hamilton Tiger-Cats from Montreal Alouettes in return for quarterback Bernie Faloney and Don Paquette, a Canadian defensive end.

Neither of the players received by Montreal got a vote from any one of the 21 selectors, who had voted before the trade was made.

Selection of Etcheverry over Tobin Rote, the former National Football League ace who passed Toronto Argonauts from the cellar to first place with a record 38 touchdown throws, was the big surprise.

Most football followers felt that Rote was all but a shoo-in for all-star honors but selectors graded Etcheverry high for his part in putting the low-rated Alouettes into the playdowns.

ANOTHER TWIST

Adding still another twist, it was Etcheverry's first selection since 1957, when he was named for the fifth straight time. The man who beat him out in 1958 and 1959 was none other than Faloney.

Patterson, too, had won selection for five straight years when a knee injury broke his streak last season.

Voting produced on unanimous choices but fullback Cookie Gilchrist of Toronto and lineman John Barrow of Hamilton were chosen to both the offence and defence clubs.

Gilchrist was part of a backfield which would look good in any league. The other fullback, of course, was Dave Thelen, the Ottawa Rough Rider who has led the league in rushing for the past two seasons. The two halfbacks are speedy Dave Mann, Rote's favorite target, and Ron Stewart, Ottawa's chunky little Canadian terror.

TOUGH CHOICE

That left out George Dixon, the Montreal import halfback who was leading the league in scoring until Gilchrist passed him on the last day of the season. But if Dixon belonged, so did Stewart and Mann.

Norm Stoneburgh, Toronto centre, and Stewart were the only Canadians on the offence team. Halfback Joe Poirier, corner linebacker Gary Schreider and end Lou Bruce of Ottawa and guard Marty Martinello of Toronto were the Canadians named to the defence team.

Martinello played with B.C. Lions last season, was traded to the Argos for George Grant before the start of the 1960 season.

OFFENCE

Quarterback — Sam Etecheverry, Montreal (now Hamilton).

Sunday's scores: Montreal 2 at New York 1; Toronto 4 at Boston 2; Detroit 1 at Chicago 7.
Next game: Tonight, Chicago at Detroit.

Chicago Black Hawks got themselves righted Sunday night and Toronto Maple Leafs are starting to make like serious contenders but they could be left battling for the runner-up spot in the National Hockey League season. Montreal Canadiens seem out of their slump and heading for their fourth straight championship.

In and around first place from the start despite some shaky early-season defensive play, Canadiens are currently boasting a five-game unbeaten streak which has put them three points in front.

They won their third in a row Sunday night by getting by New York's desperate Rangers, 2-1, on Gilles Tremblay's first goal of the season and Dickie Moore's 18th.

It was enough for an improved Montreal defence playing in front of a Jacques Plante who seems to at last have recovered his old form.

For the Rangers, steadily dropping hopelessly behind, it was the seventh setback in an eight-game winless streak.

Hawks, rocked, 7-1, in Toronto Saturday night, bounced back at home Sunday to smash Detroit's Red Wings by the same score.

Toronto kept coming with a 4-2 conquest of the Bruins at Boston as Red Kelly and Frank Mahovlich set the pace, each with a goal and an assist.

Results left the spread between the first four and the trailing two teams greater and strongly indicated that it will be the Bruins and Rangers who are likely to miss any post-season play.

Colts and Giants Stay Alive

Professional football as played in the National Football League is still gaining in public interest. And Sunday's six games showed just why they were watched by almost 300,000 paying customers.

Five of them were decided by a touchdown or less, two were decided in the last minute of play and one was won in the last part of the last quarter.

Fans in Chicago, New York and Philadelphia sat in on the most hair-raising finishes of all with the first two games decided in the last seconds and the last one on a fourth-down gamble for a touchdown instead of a field goal, which would have provided enough points to win.

WHO ELSE?

Emerging as the big hero of the day was a fellow who has been a hero often — Johnny Unitas, the fabulous quarterback of the defending-champion Baltimore Colts.

Unitas has never been greater than he was in that last two minutes at Chicago on Sunday. The rough, tough Bears had a 20-17 lead when Unitas started herding his club goalward with little time left.

There were 89 seconds left when he got them to the 35-yard line. It was within range for a tying field goal but tie games don't count in the NFL and the Colts needed a win to stay ahead of Green Bay Packers in the Western Conference.

The Bears tightened there, and Unitas was dumped hard twice in a row as his defenders couldn't hold out a savagely-charging Chicago line. The Baltimore quarterback, with fourth down and 14 yards to go, had to be patched up on the field with blood streaming from gouges on his cheek and forehead.

Unruffled as ever, Unitas went for broke. He faded back, pumped twice in a brilliant fake, and then lofted a pass into the Chicago end zone for speedy Len Moore, who got behind defender J. C. Caroline. There were only 35 seconds left when Steve Myhra kicked the conversion for a 24-20 win.

New York Giants stayed right behind Philadelphia Eagles in the Eastern Division with a 27-24 win over the stubborn Pittsburgh Steelers, brought about with 30 seconds left when Pat Summerall kicked a 37-yard field goal.

And the Eagles barely escaped against Washington Redskins, who led by 13-9 with about seven minutes left. Norm Van Brocklin had his club 28 yards away with a fourth down and 10 situation. He could go for a field goal and gamble on getting another chance for a three-pointer or go for the touchdown.

He went for the major score although he had thrown six successive incomplete passes, hit Bobby Walston for the go-ahead touchodwn. Walston converted to make it 16-13, brought the score to 19-13 40 seconds from time with a field goal after an interception.

Other close games saw Cleveland Browns barely stay in the fight with a 28-27 squeaker over St. Louis Cardinals, fullback Jim Brown setting a record for one game with 173 yards rushing, and Detroit Lions eke out a 12-10 win over Los Angeles Rams.

No U.S. Market Foreseen For Peace River Power

VANCOUVER (CP)—A Washington state senator said here Monday he can see no prospect of an American market for Peace River power for years to come.

Warren G. Magnuson, acting chairman of the Alaska international rail and highway commission, said he feels that railways such as the proposed Pacific Northern would be uneconomic.

Latin Rebels Crushed

By UPI

Central America Monday crushed three alleged Fidel Castro attempts to "export" his Cuban revolution to Caribbean neighbors by armed revolt.

Guatemala stamped out what it described as a Cuban-sponsored revolt in 24 hours of bloody fighting and asked the U.S. to patrol its shores to deter any invasion.

Nicaragua repelled invasion by armed guerrilla bands in Cuban army fatigue uniforms and wearing Castro "fatherland or death" insignia in three days of combat and siege.

Costa Rica dispersed what officials said were Cuban-led and supplied armed bands seeking to use the country as a springboard for attack on Nicaragua.

Cuba denied charges of complicity in the revolts. Castro's open enmity toward the regimes involved has been long evident.

In Guatemala, the government announced "liquidation" of the revolt movement and filed formal charges of "complicity" against Cuba before the Organization of American States. President Ydigoras said documents seized from the rebels showed they had orders to capture a military airport to enable the Castro regime to fly in reinforcements and supplies.

In Nicaragua, 14 "diehard" rebels surrendered to government troops near Managua and released unharmed 250 school children held hostage since Friday. The government guaranteed the rebels a fair trial but rejected demands for a safe-conduct out of the country.

Honduras mobilized its small army for duty along the Guatemalan frontier.

Flogging Plan Rejected

LONDON (Reuters)—A government-sponsored body Monday rejected suggestions for reintroducing corporal punishment for criminals.

The advisory council on treatment of offenders said in a report: "The greatest deterrent to crime is not the fear of punishment but the certainty of detection."

Belgium to Quit?

Supervise Congo Vote Lumumba Asks UN

UNITED NATIONS (AP)—Patrice Lumumba asked the UN by letter Monday to supervise a referendum in the Congo as a prelude to election of a new president. He said such a step was necessary to end a reign of terror under his rival, President Joseph Kasavubu.

Lumumba's request came as pierre Wigny, Belgian foreign minister, threatened withdrawal of his country from the UN unless UN officials "do not exercise the rules and restrictions imposed upon them as public officers," and described the UN operation in the Congo as a failure.

Wigny denied UN charges that Belgian nationals are trying to stir up trouble in the Congo.

He said the report submitted recently by Indian Ambassador Rajeshwar Dayal, UN special representative in the Congo, disclosed the UN failure to restore order.

Belgium could not be singled out as the villian responsible for this failure.

Garden Notes

Let's Get Cracking

By M. V. CHESNUT, FRHS

This is a good time to get cracking and give the garden a good tidy-up for the winter. Once a sharp ground frost has swept the boards, there is no point in leaving the dying remains of plants lying around, for this only encourages the spread of pests and diseases.

In clearing the vegetable plot, the spent pea and bean vines should be cut off at soil level. The tops can go to the compost heap or may be chopped up and dug in during the course of winter cultivation, but the roots should remain in the soil.

If you were to examine the roots of any member of the legume family, you would notice tiny nodules or lumps dotted here and there on the finer roots; these are colonies of beneficial bacteria—germs which have the power of extracting plant food from the air—and we want to retain these microscopic allies in our soil.

It is possible to be too tidy in cleaning up the perennial flower beds. I don't think it is a good idea to cut down these plants right to soil level, for it is too easy to forget just where the plants are located if no topgrowth at all is showing, and serious damage could be done while forking or digging over the ground between plants. I prefer to leave some stubs of stems sticking up to mark the plant locations.

If a mulch was spread over the soil surface between the plants last summer to conserve soil moisture, don't be too keen to turn it under completely—here again, a passion for tidiness may defeat your object. It is better to chop such an organic mulch into the surface rather than bury it, even though the bed may not look so neat. The rough surface of mixed litter and soil will allow deeper penetration of winter rain and frost.

In gardens where slugs are troublesome, lilies are liable to take quite a beating through the winter, both bulbs and shoots being attacked. In view of the high price of many lilies these days, it pays to take some precautions against slug damage.

Mark the areas occupied by the bulbs to make sure that no accidents will occur while forking over the site next spring. Pull out the remnants of the old flowering stems and pour a little liquid slug killer down the holes so that some will come in contact with the bulbs. Murphy's Slugit and Later's Slug-Fest are both excellent preparations for this purpose. Early next spring, just as growth is commencing, water the soil surface over the bulbs with more slug killer.

★ ★ ★

Roses have been taking quite a battering this fall from high winds and, while roses are tough plants and do not often have their branches broken, the whipping around of the bush often loosens the roots and leaves a tapered hole in the ground where the stem enters the soil. The ground around each stem should be forked over lightly and a little sandy soil mounded up for added support. A couple of light stakes or bamboo canes pushed into the soil among the branches will reduce wind sway considerably.

Madison Ave. Slapped Down

Just as the 1932 election was a defeat, final and irrevocable, of Wall Street as a dominant voice in government, this election has been a defeat, though not nearly so decisive and perhaps, alas, not at all irrevocable, of Madison Avenue.

Early in his campaign, Vice-President Nixon made noises indicating he'd cut loose from President Eisenhower and run his own campaign. But then Madison Avenue took control, the "everything is okay" approach (to use Adlai Stevenson's phraseology), which is essentially Madison Avenue, became the war cry—if war cry is not too stern a phrase. Still, it was such a narrow defeat and there were so many factors that Madison Avenue may live to run again, worse luck.

What is the Madison Avenue approach exactly? Well, you ask the people what they want to hear by survey and by research and then you give it to them. You send out a research team to determine what image the toothbrush should have. Then you manufacture it just as the people say. Now not only is this a perfectly terrible way to run a government but it isn't even a very good way to make a toothbrush.

Above every other consideration—this is what you might say is the Madison Avenue prayer—one must be liked. No distressing body odors. Or—as the NBC commercial which kept interrupting the returns — no decaying teeth. The girl in that commercial kept losing the boy — but in the end she won him. Madison Avenue gave her a happy ending but it couldn't manage one for Nixon.

Foreign policy was the number one issue in this campaign and in this field alone the Madison Avenue approach has been disastrous. Jack Kennedy in his campaign faced the fact and tried—and probably succeeded—in making the electorate face the fact that U.S. prestige has declined.

The U.S. is not likely to be loved again as a nation in our lifetime. Rome was not loved. Britain was not loved when she ruled the waves. But both of them were respected.

Russia is not loved either but she is feared and that's not the answer either. Total terror binds your enemies into a coalition that destroyed Napoleon and destroyed Hitler and could destroy Khrushchev too.

Foreign policies must be designed to be wise and just and enduring, not simply to be popular which they are not likely to be anyway.

The election of Jack Kennedy brings to an end an era of private need (and private greed) and opens an era of public need (and I devoutly hope not public greed).

★ ★ ★

Since the end of the Second World War, we have been filling up the vast emptinesses in our private larders left by the austerities of the great Depression and Second World War, until in John Kenneth Galbreath's phrase we have almost drowned in a surfeit of nylon seat covers and plastic doorknobs. We have now all got, I think, enough toasters. We can turn our attention to our neglected school system, our unplanned and decaying cities. The age of the magalopolis is dawning and they require more than supermarkets to make them habitable.

Hollywood Today — By Sheilah Graham

Loretta's Show Dented

HOLLYWOOD (NANA)—Loretta Young's TV show is in trouble for the first time since it went on the air—the Arthur Godfrey competition in the new "candid camera" show has dented her rating. But if Loretta is worried it doesn't show on the charm girl, who never seems to lose her smiling serenity. And if she ever wants to sell the 200 half-hour films she has made during the last six years, there's $1,000,000 waiting merely for picking it up.

★ ★ ★

The original ending of Marlon Brando's "One-Eyed Jacks" had Marlon weeping for the first time, I believe, on the screen. With the new happy ending, the tears are gone. Just as well. Can you imagine a sobbing Brando?

★ ★ ★

Was it coincidence that Felicia Farr signed to do "The Three Musketeers" for David Susskind on TV, in New York, with Jack Lemmon in the same city for his play, "Face of a Hero"?

★ ★ ★

Figure this out: Nancy Kwan, star of "The World of Suzie Wong," will attend the London and Hollywood premieres on the same night, Dec. 16. Also a party in each city on the same night. London is eight hours ahead of Hollywood. Nancy will fly over the pole to Los Angeles immediately after the party and picture in London, and make the wingding in Hollywood, with time for a nap!

★ ★ ★

In "The Spinster" Shirley MacLaine hides her red hair under a Queen Victoria type brown wig. Changes her completely—except for the grin in her eyes . . . Shirley, by the way, received $175,000 plus a percentage for "The Apartment," and $250,000 for "Can-Can," enough to keep any wolf from the door.

★ ★ ★

Anthony George, star of the new "Checkmate" series, has a simple approach to the advantages of stardom—"It Makes It Easy to Meet Pretty Girls." George is trying, pretty girls notwithstanding, to get six weeks away from his series to join Audie Murphy in his film, "Battle at Bloody Beach." What a bloody title!

★ ★ ★

The silver lining to silent-day movie star Ramon Novarro's illness in London: The 61-year-old ex-idol has been flooded with letters from British matrons who remember him as the dashing hero of the first "Ben-Hur" film.

★ ★ ★

When Tuesday Weld was six years old, her mother brought her to Larry Matthews' beauty parlor on New York's Broadway and requested, "Make Her a Platinum Blonde." "I will not," said Larry, who was outraged at such a severe dye job for a girl of six. He asked them politely but firmly to leave. Next day he received a call from an official at CBS with the stronger request, "dye her hair; the part calls for it." This time Larry complied.

★ ★ ★

Danny Thomas wants to act in a Zane Grey segment with his daughter Marlo, whom I used to know as Margaret when she was a small girl living around the corner from my house in Beverly Hills. Danny denies the recent story that Marlo (or Maggie, which I prefer) was planning an elopment. "When she marries it will be in the church," says Daniel.

★ ★ ★

With the death of Ward Bond, his partner in the "Wagon Train" series, Robert Horton, is thinking of cancelling his Christmas appearance at the London Palladium. Robert and Ward were not too friendly in recent months, but a couple of weeks ago they buried the hatchet for the sake of their top-rated series. However, Robert did not attend the funeral.

★ ★ ★

Yul Brynner, due in New York, will be given a reception by the United Nations Nov. 28, as a thank-you for his good work with refugee children on behalf of UN.

★ ★ ★

Marilyn Monroe decided against the film version of "Goodbye Charlie." It's too boisterous for her, and what Marilyn wants most at this point is a long rest.

★ ★ ★

Tony Perkins has been calling New York for play scripts. He is getting near the end of "Aimez-vous Brahms" in Paris with Ingrid Bergman, and wants to do a play on Broadway before doing another movie in Hollywood.

Guardians Will Lose Boy

Court of Appeal Rules

WINNIPEG (CP) — The Manitoba Court of Appeal yesterday unanimously dismissed an appeal by Mr. and Mrs. Ken Hallas of Winnipeg who sought guardianship of the six-year-old boy whom they have looked after since he was 8½ months old.

The appeal was launched after Mr. Justice W. D. Ferguson in the Manitoba Court of Queen's Bench granted custody of the boy to the Children's Aid Society Aug. 18.

Mr. and Mrs. Hallas are prevented by the Manitoba Child Welfare Act from adopting the Roman Catholic boy. The Hallases belong to the United Church of Canada.

In July, the Children's Aid Society found a Roman Catholic home for Bobby and told the Hallas family they would lose Bobby. The Hallases refused to give the boy up until Mr. Justice Ferguson's ruling.

Chief Justice J. E. Adamson, in dismissing the appeal, said: "The Hallases were well aware they would not be able to adopt the child . . . the powers of this court may not be exercised in violation of the Child Welfare Act."

Perle Mesta is often asked the secret of her successful parties. In her book, "My Story," she explains: "When I make up my guest list, I like to get the right blend of guests—to mix Republicans and Democrats, and the bigwigs, the littlewigs and the no wigs at all. I like to bring up controversial subjects at the table."

Perle claims an excellent way to keep a party alive is to seat political opponents near each other. Once she invited Senators Alexander Wiley and the late Pat McCarran to a dinner party, knowing well that they were not on speaking terms!

"I seated Senator Wiley at my right and Senator McCarran at my left," she added. "During the first course, Senator Wiley leaned toward me and whispered in his gentle way, 'Why have you got that McCarran here?' Before long, Senator McCarran nudged me. 'What have you got Wiley here for?'"

It was icy at the table for a while. At last, looking straight ahead, Perle said good and loud so that she could be heard the length of the table, "Well, Perle, I guess you'll just have to talk to yourself this evening."

"And do you know what? At the end of the evening, those two men left the house arm in arm!"

Only Answer, Says Engineer

Park Cars 'Off-Street'

Only permanent solution to the problem of downtown traffic congestion involves provision of adequate and convenient off-street parking for shoppers, City Engineer James Garnett said yesterday in a talk to the public affairs group of the Chamber of Commerce.

Unless the city, or the city and business combined, undertake and subsidize the provision of off-street parking, he said, the problem likely will become steadily worse. The long-range traffic and parking plan approved in principle by city council, he told the group, includes reservation of sites for off-street parking facilities so that developing business can be safeguarded. Most urgent item in the program is the acquisition of the necessary land, he said, both for future parking facilities and for development and widening of major routes.

Youthful Robbers Convicted

An Assize Court jury deliberated for 20 minutes yesterday before returning verdicts of guilty against each of two young defendants charged with robbery with violence.

Gary Lea Groen, no fixed address, and William Trevor Donaldson, 1016 Balmoral, were remanded until the end of the assizes for sentence by Mr. Justice A. D. Macfarlane.

The charges followed an attack on a visiting California woman last Aug. 24 on Belleville near the Crest Motel.

Mayor Bucks Probe

Mayor Percy Scurrah opposed city council investigating the recent series of resignations at the Memorial Arena.

"My personal opinion is that it's the arena commission's business, and that council should hold the commission responsible for results and not interfere in any way," he said.

"It's possible a meeting with council might be helpful, but I can't see why council should interfere."

A meeting of the arena commission and city council's arena committee is expected to be held some time this week.

Silver Threads May Close Hall

Victoria's Silver Threads Service may be forced to close down its recreation hall because of the failure of the 1960 Community Chest.

Chest oficials estimated yesterday only $300,000 of the $350,000 target will be collected by the united appeal, meaning a drastic cut in the budget of all member agencies.

Silver Threads director Glen Hamilton said last night the budget cut might equal the $1,800 required to keep the recreation activities in operation.

More than 700 of Victoria's senior citizens use the centre at 643 Broughton Street, for card games, dramatics, arts and crafts, darts and other entertainments.

Almost $10,300 was received at the Chest office yesterday, bringing the total amount raised so far to $231,425—$118,575 below the target.

Chest officials are predicting that this week will be the biggest of the extended campaign. Closing day is Friday.

Six-Day Week

Stores 'Open' In Esquimalt

Council declared a "wide-open" six-day shopping week for Esquimalt last night.

Slackening of present restrictions requiring stores to close at noon on Mondays and 6 p.m. Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Saturday won't become effective until the new bylaw is finally approved.

NEXT MEETING

Draft of the new bylaw will be considered by council at its next meeting in two weeks.

Council's decision last night followed formal complaints by M. S. Duffus, vice-president of Super Valu stores. He said in a letter that Monday noon closing placed stores in the municipality at a "competitive disadvantage" to those in Victoria, which already has a six-day shopping week.

DO AWAY

Mr. Duffus urged council to do away with the restrictions, or failing that, to enforce its present bylaw so that small stores in Esquimalt would be prevented from selling groceries illegally.

"This is a contentious matter," said Reeve A. C. Wurtele. "We have been told by the police chief (Gilbert Stancombe) that our present bylaw just doesn't work.

THROW IT OUT

"Victoria tried to have a bylaw regulating shopping hours, but was forced to throw it out. Saanich did the same thing."

Coun. G. K. Sammon said: "Unfortunately the charges made by Super Valu are correct. These people (operators of small stores) are breaking the law and will continue to operate illegally until we do something about it."

Coun. James Bryant said that while many small stores now stayed open Monday afternoon and evenings at other times when they could legally remain open these stores are closed.

STAND BACKED

But council members, Mr. Bryant included, backed the stand by Coun. Vincent Rush that "if the present bylaw has teeth, let's enforce it to the letter. If not—throw it out."

The reeve said the bylaw lacked teeth to deal with such cases as the operator of a small store on the boundary of the city. Although the store is just inside Esquimalt, the operator remains open Monday afternoons in defiance of the bylaw, because he claims, almost all his customers come from Victoria West.

NEW BYLAW

Municipal clerk J. W. Allan said a new bylaw is needed to offset requirements of the Municipal Act that stores close Wednesday afternoon or another weekday afternoon if council so designates.

Councillors decided while they were about preparation of a new bylaw that the 6 p.m. closing restriction should be removed as well. The reeve cautioned them that this would mean a "wide-open" shopping week.

"What difference is it—it's wide open now," said Coun. Arthur Fields.

Cadets' Open House

The 89th Kinsmen Air Cadets and Kadettes will hold open house at RCAF headquarters on Yates Street on Wednesday at 7.30 p.m.

'Stolen' by Consent

Duncan Still Reserve Indian Ex-Chief Says

By CHARLES THOMPSON

* * *

DUNCAN—Former Indian Chief Elwood Modeste said yesterday that as far as he is concerned this city is still an Indian reserve, "stolen" with the government's consent.

Original reserve maps show that the land set aside for the Indians "included what is now Duncan, and then some."

COLONIST STORY

He made the assertions during comments on a story in The Colonist Sunday from Ottawa that charged that the Indian Act impedes the development of the people it sets out to protect.

Mr. Modeste said that "even the government's Indian department hasn't lived up to the original act" concerning reserves which were surveyed on the orders of the late Queen Victoria, "to be ours forever and ever."

FOUR YEARS

Mr. Modeste was chief here for four years. His father, grandfather and great-grandfather were chiefs before him. Mr. Modeste represented all B.C. Indians when he met Queen Elizabeth at Ottawa.

"My great-grandfather was chief when the surveyors asked them to pick out large areas of land that would be the reserve, land to live on and to hunt in — because the white people were coming in and they needed a place of their own," he said.

"IR" PLUG

Within recent years, claimed the former chief, an "IR" plug had been found in the city, marking a part of reserve land.

"Forget about the fact that Duncan may or may not be in a reserve," he said. "We don't have to go back many years for examples of land grabbing. Tzouhalem Farms, the Mission Church and rectory and some white farms on our western boundary have all been taken from the reserve."

They were not approved by "a majority of the people" as stipulated in the act, and yet an Indian commissioner to whom he spoke of the matter did nothing.

"The only piece of land that I know of that the people voted for was the 70 acres poor Charlie Williams sold to the city for $70,000," he said.

RUN DOWN

Mr. Williams was killed shortly afterward when run down by his own car. The property was actually sold to a government agency, Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation, for Centennial Heights subdivision.

The quiet-spoken carpenter agreed with the Colonist story that the Indian Act is "a very wicked act."

FINAL RULING

"If there is a land dispute, which you know there is quite often, it goes to the government and the minister gives a final ruling on it. This is no good. It should be settled on the level here, with a vote of the people," he added.

Some government workers tell Indians they are their own bosses, to administer their own affairs, when the truth is that they are given nothing to administer, said Mr. Modeste.

FIRST TIME

This year for the first time in B.C., the Cowichan tribe has a yearly budget to handle. Mr. Modeste was instrumental in getting the $12,000 for the band.

"But there is more than $200,000 in the band's fund and yet the council cannot touch it without the approval of the government, which gives the government control," he said.

Asked if he thought the reserve system should be abandoned, he answered: "No. We are proud of being Indians. When they were set up the Indians needed a place of their own. Many still do, but the development of our people would be helped if the government would let them control more of their affairs."

'Operation Go Home' To Involve 2,800

More than 2,800 provincial civil servants will take part in 'Operation Go Home" Friday afternoon to test civil defence preparedness.

The exercise will commence with a three-minute blast from the siren on the roof of the Douglas Building about 4.30 p.m.

Purpose of the exercise is to check the emergency measures organization alert warning system, to test internal communications, to drill personnel in building evacuation procedure, and to obtain data on time factors and study the flow of traffic to ascertain points of congestion.

Although authority has been obtained to carry out a total evacuation of the legislative buildings at the time of the exercise it will be necessary for those offices serving the public and required to remain open by statute to retain a skeleton staff until the normal closing time.

Quake Tremors Noted Here

Seismograph at the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory in Saanich recorded early yesterday moderate earthquake tremors centred somewhere in Alaska's Aleutian Islands, about 2,000 miles north of Victoria.

White Tropical Kits Needed for Parade

White tropical kits—two for women and two for men—are sought for use on Victoria's float in the Grey Cup parade. Jerry Gosley, organizer of the display, has asked that anyone who could lend such gear phone him at EV 2-7792.

'Frisky' Killed In Old Well

"Frisky," a purebred race horse, died of a broken neck last night after falling through a rotten wooden cover over an abandoned well on a Saanich pasture property.

The horse, a one-year-old, was missed first at 4.30 p.m. when 13-year-old Wilfred Hollinger went to bed it down for the night in a barn.

It died about two hours later from injuries suffered in the fall, before it could be rescued.

"Frisky" was bred by Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Martin, 860 Seymour Avenue, and was boarded on property owned by Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Hollinger, Cherry Tree Bend at Haliburton.

The horse was valued at "about $1,000."

Kiwanis Village Grant Approved

Provincial cabinet has approved a further grant-in-aid of $80,000, for the Kiwanis Village Society here.

The village provides low-cost housing for senior citizens.

Lost 40 Hours

Hunter Shoots Last Buck In Future It's Beefsteak

Victoria hunter Ronald Beale, 39, shot his last buck deer early yesterday morning. In future he plans to buy his meat from a butcher.

He shot the buck about 9 a.m. while he was walking out of bush in the Leechtown area, where he had been lost for about 40 hours.

Mr. Beale cleaned the carcass and dragged it as far as he could before he left it. He met a search party as they were preparing to look for him and some of the party helped him bring the buck out.

"I'm not going out any more," he said yesterday. "It isn't worth it. I put in too tough a night last night—my clothes were wet and my matches wouldn't light.

"I couldn't even have a cigaret, My legs were so sore I could hardly move them in the morning.

"I'd sooner buy a T-bone steak."

Volunteer searchers, led by RCMP Const. H. D. Boyer of Shawnigan Lake and game warden Jack Lenfesty of Victoria, included Ruben Patrick 4105 Glanford, and Ted Cunningham, 4106 Glanford, neighbors of Mr. Beale.

Mr. Beale was reported missing about 3 p.m. Saturday. RCMP tracking dog was used Sunday.

'Give Benny the Business' 'Friendly' Druggist's Motto

Capital Notebook By Peter Bruton

SOUND PRESCRIPTION: Local drug salesman, making a sweep through northern B.C., came to a small, two-drugstore town. He was a little shocked to find that supplies at one store were negligible.

"Good heavens, sir!" exclaimed the salesman. "What do you do if someone wants a prescription filled?"

"Send 'em to Benny's," replied the druggist. (Benny's is the opposition drugstore.) "Last month I filled $45 worth of welfare prescriptions. Sent the bill to Victoria and all they sent me back was $4. Yep, now I send 'em all to Benny's!"

CALLING ALL CARS: The Colonist party's search for the lost cave near Leechtown was not without its cost.

In order to get a radio aerial up over a branch they tied a rock to one end of the wire and hurled it skywards. The rock slipped and sailed over a cliff. The tinkling crash which followed led to an immediate investigation.

The rock had punched a neat hole right through the windshield of Colonist car column editor John Jones' brand new BMW parked below.

ON THE TOWN: Victoria businessman Jack Phillion plans to celebrate his 18th wedding anniversary Dec. 19 by taking his wife Gwynneth to Victoria Kinsmen's 22nd giant bingo night.

He doesn't have much choice—he's chairman of the club bingo committee since it started and has been MC at each of the 21 previous bingo nights. The date for the game was set before Mr. Phillion realized it was the date of his wedding anniversary.

CLEAN SWEEP: Husbands of Solarium Junior League members who sell coffee and hot dogs during the salmon run at Goldstream dutifully tow the mobile kitchen trailer to and from the scene every Sunday. This week, however, the husbands were held up and a newcomer was pressed into service.

When he delivered the trailer he casually mentioned he had picked up a number of large water canisters left lying nearby and he suggested the girls be a little more careful with their property.

A check revealed he had picked up the parks branch garbage cans in the area.

STICKY BUSINESS: Owner of an auto wrecking establishment on the outskirts of town decided to put an end to the frequent thefts of gas from a tank on his property.

He poured a large quantity of molasses into the tank and waited for action. It soon came, in an unexpected manner.

A nearby resident confronted the owner with a threat to call the RCMP and lay charges against him because the molasses had hopelessly gummed up the engine of his vehicle.

Morning Vows Heard In St. John's Church

Saturday morning in St. John's Church, Miss Kathleen Rosemary Crowe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Crowe, 2447 Bowker Avenue, exchanged wedding vows with Mr. Peter William Robin, son of Mr. G. P. Robin, 145 Crease Avenue, and the late Mrs. Robin. Canon T. Scott officiated at the ceremony in a setting of fall-colored chrysanthemums. Wedding music was played by Mr. F. Chubb, and soloist was Mrs. Anwin Taylor. The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a bouffant wedding gown of rustling, whisper taffeta with a portrait neckline, lily-point sleeves and floor-length skirt. Her chapel-length veil was caught to a Juliet cap of satin. Her bouquet was of red roses.

Attendants, Miss Elaine Lawton and Miss Dolly Burton, were dressed alike in turquoise organza over floral silk gowns with turquoise accessories and bronze chrysanthemum bouquets.

The groom had Mr. Laurence Morrical as best man, and Mr. Bob McDonald and Mr. David Crowe as ushers.

Following the ceremony, guests were received at Holyrood House, where a three-tier wedding cake centred the lace-covered table. The lace cloth was made by the bride's grandmother, Mrs. E. Ridout.

Leaving for a honeymoon in the United States, the new Mrs. Robin wore a pale green Blin and Blin suit, a brown hat and accessories and an orchid corsage.

Mr. and Mrs. Robin will live on Fairfield Road when they return.

Tips for Parents

By HELEN R. HEWSON

A newspaper headline announces "Rowdy, destructive acts halt school dances."

The dances were part of Friday Night Teen Club programs, organized for the students of 11 junior high schools in a suburban area by the local Parks and Recreation Department.

There was extensive damage to buildings and furnishings in three of the schools (all in good residential areas) and the Board of Education refused to allow the use of the schools for future teen parties.

Junior High School students range in age from about 12 to 15 years, old enough to respect and care for public property—property that is bought and maintained by their own parents and neighbors.

★ ★ ★

But young people are often less responsible in a group than they are capable of being as individuals, and the foolish behavior of a few can infect and create trouble for the whole group.

They need supervision, supervision that is friendly but firm, that will help them to live up to the standards expected of them.

To provide adequate supervision for these young people places a heavy financial burden on the recreation authorities.

It means cutting down on programing or equipment unless the parents are willing to help. Too often they are not.

★ ★ ★

The problem of inadequate programs and supervision for young people will continue until more parents wake up and realize that in modern society the community is an extension of the home.

Young people need their parents' care and interest in the home and also in their community activities, the hobbies and recreation they enjoy with their own age group.

Parents can show their interest by supporting community recreation programs with funds and with personal effort; by giving volunteer help when needed; and by developing a sense of responsibility and respect for reasonable limits to behavior in their own children.

Your Problems

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: I know you'll say I'm a rock head but if you print this letter, it may help to warn others.

I became acquainted with a lady through a Lonely Hearts Club. She sent me her picture, and her letters sounded educated and respectable. I had lost my wife a few years back and wanted a mother for my boy. This woman said she was widowed and had three children who needed a daddy.

After four months of writing back and forth, I sent money for her and the three kids to come to Fairbanks, Alaska, where I'm working. She lived in Maryland, so you know this was quite a hunk of dough.

She did not arrive on the day she was supposed to, and I haven't heard from her since. It's been over a month.

I'm so mad I'm tempted to hire detectives to hunt her up, but then what good would it do even if I could find her, which is unlikely. Just print my letter as a warning to others. Thank you.—HAROLD

Dear Harold: It's amazing how many reasonably sensible people do unbelievably stupid things when they are lonesome. For this reason I refuse, flatly, to put one reader in touch with another, through this column.

I am opposed, unequivocally, to any sort of blind matchmaking and I don't care how respectable it may sound. I've known of matchmaking outfits which have succeeded in hoodwinking even respectable clergymen into the act.

I've examined almost a ton of the Lonely Hearts literature which runs the gamut from the cheap "Pen Pal Club Plan" to the highly polished "Selection Agency." And there's always a price.

In my opinion, it all boils down to this: Grown men and women who have failed to find a mate through accepted social channels and are willing to put the selection of a life-long partner in the hands of an agency are a little off-balance. It may work in one case out of a thousand, but I wouldn't touch such stuff with a 40-foot pole.

Dear Ann: I have a problem I can't talk over with my husband. He idolizes his sister—and she is the problem.

I'm not good at club work or organizations. I have four children under 12 years of age and they keep me plenty busy. I do all my own housework, baking and laundry. I love to read but I haven't had time to sit down with a book in five years.

My sister-in-law lives two blocks away. She is a very outgoing person, president of two clubs, and is involved in school board activities and local politics. Her children are the same ages as three of mine, and they fight a lot. Five days a week I have her kids here for lunch, dinner, or both. She never hires a sitter if they go out for an evening. She brings them over here. She and her husband take several short trips during the year and I get the kids.

She calls me "The World's Best Sister-In-Law." I like the title, but her children are too much for me. If I wanted to take care of seven kids I would have had three more of my own. What can I do?—STUCK.

Dear Stuck: Your husband didn't get you into this spot so don't expect him to get you out. Your real problem is ambivalance (OK—look it up.) You enjoy the title, but you don't like what goes with it. When you reach the point where the title means less than the extra work, you'll let her know.

★ ★ ★

Does almost everyone have a good time but you. If so, send for Ann Landers' booklet, "How To Be Well-liked," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Winning Contract

By HOWARD SCHENKEN and RICHARD L. FREY

Part of the fascination of bridge is the complexity of the game. Some deals are not only difficult to analyze while they are being played; they may create a kind of optical illusion which causes a good player to come to the wrong conclusion when he talks about the hand afterward.

Here's a deal we received from a frequent correspondent. We quote from what he says about it, not to embarrass him but to show how far overboard any player can go. And, alas, sometimes that includes this column.

	NORTH (D)
Vul: None	♠ 9 7 2 ♡ K 5 ◇ 6 4 ♣ K Q 10 8 7 3
WEST		EAST
♠ A 10 4 ♡ Q 9 4 3 2 ◇ A 10 ♣ A 6 5		♠ J 8 6 5 ♡ 10 8 ◇ Q J 7 5 3 ♣ 9 2
	SOUTH ♠ K Q 3 ♡ A J 7 6 ◇ K 9 8 2 ♣ J 4

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
Pass	Pass	1 ♣	1 ♡
2 ♣	Pass	2 N.T.	Pass
3 N.T.	All Pass

Opening lead: ♠ 4

We don't hold with South's psychic third hand club bid. Even a short minor suit bid should include three cards as good as the queen. However, an opening bid of one heart might have made it difficult to reach the sound three no-trump contract.

Our correspondent introduced this hand as "a case of flawless perfection." East's jack of spades was won by declarer, who started the clubs. West held out until the third round of the suit; then, after taking the ace he led a heart which ran around to South's jack. The heart king put North in to run the clubs and, says our contributor, "West could follow South's discards in great comfort. South elected to bare his diamond king to hold the two spades and the heart ace. The lead of a diamond from dummy let West win the ace. After laying down the spade ace, West exited with the diamond ten and the contract was set."

So far, so good. But then the letter incautiously continued: "A pleasant double dummy problem; it is impossible for South to make the contract in the face of the opening lead and the follow up of the low heart." Which, of course, is simply all wet. Indeed, declarer should make his contract without double-dummy play.

It is true that West discards after South. But that doesn't do him a bit of good if South blanks the king of spades, holding the ace of hearts and the king and one diamond. A spade lead puts West in, and South simply discards on the second spade according to how West discarded on the last club. West must give declarer his ninth trick.

$14,900

"How did you ever find it?" is a typical remark to the owners of this little cream and brown stucco gem. It is beautifully situated on Portage Inlet with a superb view and a nicely landscaped lot including laburnum, hazelnut and apple trees. There is a separate matching garage and the bus stop is at the door. The beautiful Mallard ducks are continually waddling up the lawn to be fed, providing pleasant diversion from everyday cares. On the main floor there is a 25' living-dining room in line, a modernized cab elec kitchen (with stainless steel sinks) and two bedrooms. In the basement is a neat 3-room suite rented at $55 per month. The heating system is oil hot water. The price is firm and a substantial cash payment is necessary. For appointment to view call Art Yells EV 2-2161, res. EV 3-5089. N.B. $55 per mo represents an excellent investment return on $5,000, so that in effect at the full price of $14,900 you are buying the next to impossible waterfront property for $9,900.

IT'S MILES PLEASANTER

The Way of the Worry-Free

Travel today has many spokesmen—each for a different way.

Haste urges you to take the swiftest road. Adventure, Glamour, Convenience—all loudly voice their reasons why.

But while Assurance speaks quietly, it speaks with growing force to travellers everywhere.

Ask the venturer who leaves his car behind why he rides with Canadian National Railways—and you will find that luxury, restfulness, quiet and roomy comfort are all wanted things. But there is something more:

There is peace-of-mind as you go your way.

Concerned and thinking motorists contrast this ease of riding with the tension of driving—in the traffic of today's highways. And growing numbers say—"When it's over 100 miles, I take the train".

Wife Held Back

'He Walked Off Cliff'

LILLOOET, B.C. (CP)—A man accidentally walked off a cliff south of here Saturday and dropped 600 feet to his death.

He was identified as Alex Michel, 28, of Chase, B.C.

Michel's wife was stopped at the edge of the cliff as she tried to jump after him.

Police here said the accident happened when a carload of people, including Michel, halted their car because of a flat tire.

Two hunters, Basil Dodgson of Whonnock and Jerry Ausland of North Surrey, stopped to help.

Ausland explained later: "Mr. Michel and one of his friends were walking along the edge of the cliff. They seemed to think the edge was straight, but it jutted in and out. I warned them to keep away from the edge.

"Suddenly one of them just walked into thin air and disappeared. There wasn't a sound. The other man just walked back to the car and didn't say anything."

Ausland said he walked to the edge of the cliff and shouted down, but heard nothing.

Michel's wife was grabbed by another woman as she ventured near the edge.

The body was recovered Sunday.

Macmillan is due in Rome Nov. 21 for three days of talks with Italian government leaders.

Less than two weeks later, the Pope is scheduled to receive the archbishop of Canterbury, Dr. Geoffrey Fisher.

The audience will mark the first time the Pope has received the head of the Church of England since the Reformation 400 years ago.

Bogus-Bill Charge 'Political Smearing'

MONTREAL (CP) — An RCMP spokesman sadi Monday reports that a Quebec political party had planed to use $2,500,000 in counterfeit $10 bills as campaign funds during the last provincial election appeared to be a case of "political smearing rather than a criminal matter." No trace of any such money has been found.

CAR SKIDS ON MALAHAT TWO CITY SEAMEN DIE

National

Rail Strike Looms

MONTREAL (CP)—Fifteen unions representing about 112,000 non-operating railroad employees are to announce the result of a strike vote today. The result is considered a foregone conclusion.

The Gazette says returns already in show that up to 90 per cent of the non-operating employees favor a strike to back up their wage demands.

Ever since the balloting was announced last September, after the CPR and CNR refused to accept a 14-cent-an-hour wage increase which a federal conciliation board had recommeded for the non-ops, there has been little or do doubt that the union members would favor a strike by a large majority.

A strike would close down the country's railroads from coast to coast.

Small Boy's Prank Costs Man's Life

NEW YORK (UPI)—A painter plunged to his death yesterday because an 11-year-old boy, as a prank, had cut part-way through a rope that held his scaffold. Harry Perlmutter, 62, fell three storeys to his death. His partner hung on and crawled to safety through a window.

News Stuns Shipmates On Icebreaker Camsell

By JACK FRY

A pulverizing car crash on the Malahat last night left two men dead and three persons injured.

Dead are Douglas Hartlen, of Nova Scotia a deckhand, and James Percy, 730 Violet, second cook, who worked aboard the icebreaker CGS Camsell, due to sail from Victoria Wednesday.

MESS BOY

Injured were Keith Hartlen, deckhand; Alvin Fisher, mess boy, both also off the Camsell, and Marjory Gavell, who are being treated for undetermined injuries at St. Joseph's Hospital.

Only one car was involved, said police. A Victoria-bound 1955 Ford apparently skidded out of control for 75 yards along a ditch on Tunnel Hill and flipped back onto the highway, landing upside down.

Three ambulances raced dying and injured to St. Joseph's Hospital.

GRISLY SCENE

Traffic came to a standstill bumper-to-bumper for a quarter mile on each side of the grisly scene.

Four hours later, RCMP were still piecing together their reports.

John Getgood, RR1 Ladysmith, followed the death car down the Malahat but was too far behind to see the actual crash. He rounded a curve and saw ahead of him the mangled car and broken bodies nearby.

STUNNED VICTIM

He jumped from his car and ran to a man staggering near the form of a girl lying on the highway beside the front fender. The stunned victim repeatedly mumbled "my name is Fisher . . . my name is Fisher," said Mr. Getwood.

"We found two more men trapped inside the car and a third lying in the ditch 30 feet from the car. One man inside had a strong pulse but I couldn't reach the other one.

CAME TO HELP

Another motorist came to assist and "we tried to lift the car but we couldn't budge it," he said.

RCMP were called by Philip Robertson, of Shawnigan Lake, second person upon the scene, who turned his car around and sped off to Goldstream, the nearest telephone.

The first ambulance, driven by Allen Le Quesne, who was assisted by Vic Kent, both of the Langford volunteer fire department, brought the injured woman and one of the dead men.

"A car seat was in the middle of the road, 20 feet from the wreck. The girl was lying with her head on the cushion and a young man in a bad state of shock was sitting on the other end of the same seat," said Mr. Le Quesne.

ANOTHER AMBULANCE

Another Langford ambulance commandeered by Eugene Yates and Vern Edwards brought in two men, both conscious, one whose forehead was swathed in blood-stained bandages and the other who was propped on one elbow with an unlighted cigaret dangling from his mouth.

Joe Rainer, driver, and Max David, of Victoria, Ambulance Service Ltd., brought in the second dead man. "Cars were lined up for a quarter mile when we pulled up," he said. "I suppose there were about as many cars on the other side too."

STUNNED BY NEWS

Shipmates aboard the Camsell, tied up by Johnson Street Bridge, were stunned by the news. Leaving one man on watch, the rest hurried over to hospital.

In mild shock was bos'un William Green, who said "I was going to go with them up to Nanaimo but I came down to watch the football game on television here and missed them."

He was later seen at hospital trying to console Keith Hartlen over the loss of his brother.

MUCH MISSED

Capt. A. F. Davidson, skipper of the Camsell, said of his dead crew members, "They will be very much missed by the ship's company. They were good boys, hard workers and reliable.

"Both were with me since the ship was commissioned last November."

Cook Hangs

★ ★ ★

Commutation Turned Down

FT. SASKATCHEWAN, Alta. (CP)—Robert Raymond Cook, 23, was hanged early today for the murder of his father.

The trap was sprung at 12.05 a.m. (MST) and Cook was pronounced dead at 12.19 a.m.

Warden Thomas Holt said Cook "went like a man should" and added that Cook "has been a wonderful prisoner."

Cook, an auto mechanic, was convicted twice of murder after the shot and bludgeoned bodies of seven members of his family were found in a garage grease pit.

As the hours ran out for Cook, he summoned lawyer Giffard Main to his jail cell.

The call for Mr. Main came Monday after Cook had received a telegram from Ottawa saying there would be no commutation.

Mr. Main said Cook wanted to be "absolutely certain" all legal procedures had been exhausted in his fight to beat the gallows.

The hanging date was set back from Oct. 15 until Tuesday to permit an application to appeal to the Supreme Court.

There have been only nine executions in Canada since the Progressive Conservative government assumed office in June, 1957. Commutations to life imprisonment total 35 out of the 44 death sentences for murder.

UN Speaker

Small A-Club Urged by Green

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP) — Without disarmament, the nuclear club will become "the least exclusive club in the world—and we all know what that means," External Affairs Minister Green told the United Nations Monday.

The Canadian said messages exchanged between American president-elect John Kennedy and Soviet Premier Khrushchev are "heartening." But the U.S. election was bound to cause some delay in resumption of disarmament negotiations.

EMPHASIZE URGENCY

Once again he called on middle and smaller countries for support of Canada's resolution urging establishment of a small UN non-nuclear committee to emphasize the urgency of disarmament and work at getting East-West negotiations going again.

U.S. Snags Second Capsule

HONOLULU (UPI)—A U.S. Air Force plane almost six miles above the ocean Monday caught the gold-plated capsule of a Discoverer satellite that had whirled 31 times and almost 1,000,000 miles around the world.

It was only the second time in history a satellite capsule has been caught in mid-air and the air crew that did it almost missed the flight because of mechanical trouble. They snagbed it on the second pass.

The Discoverer XVII, fired from a California base Saturday, was left in space for 31 passes instead of the usual 17 when scientists reported it was working perfectly.

Kennedy Asked to Check Ouster of Portland Men

PORTLAND (AP) — President-elect John F. Kennedy was asked Monday to help stay the deportation of two Portland men, Hamish Scott Mackay and William A. Mackie.

The supreme court earlier Monday refused to order a stay. Now only an order from the president could block the deportation which the immigration service has been working at for years.

President Eisenhower did not acknowledge a request to intervene.

Their offense, they say, was in joining groups that tried to help the unemployed during the depression.

Promote Revolt Goldwater Urges

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. Barry Goldwater Monday proposed a series of drastic changes in U.S. foreign policy —including less reliance on the United Nations and the active promotion of U.S.-backed revolutions in Communist eastern Europe.

The Arizona senator, a leader in the Republican party's conservative bloc, also suggested that the Western powers consider an "interim protectorate" over Africa to prepare that strife-torn area for effective self-government.

Goldwater's remarks could signal a major try on his part to win a stronger voice in Republican councils in anticipation of the 1964 presidential race.

After Vice-President Richard M. Nixon's defeat he said he wanted a voice in the next national election battle.

He said the United States "must shed the attitudes and techniques of the Salvation Army and start behaving like a great power."

Otherwise, he said, "the situation will progressively worsen until the United States is at bay—isolated and besieged by an entirely hostile world."

TV Strike Tonight?

NEW YORK (AP)—Representatives of a performers' union and the four major U.S. television and radio networks resumed negotiations yesterday seeking to reach agreement on a new contract before today's midnight's deadline for a possible strike.

Networks have been stockpiling TV film shows to keep networks on the air if all live television is struck.

Mayor Mabel Chills Parley in Alberni

ALBERNI — An offer from the inspector of municipalities to meet with council here on Tuesday had been neither accepted nor rejected when council meeting adjourned Monday night.

Mayor Mabel Anderson, when the offer was presented at the regular meeting, declared that the suggested meeting with the inspector could not be held as she had not called it. She cited the Municipal Act as her authority when she snapped that only the mayor could call a meeting of the council.

When an alderman suggested that the rest of the council could meet the inspector unofficially, she declared that it would be illegal for them to discuss city business under the circumstances.

Some weeks ago, aldermen had put through a motion asking the inspector to come to the city to discuss procedural difficulties. At that time the date of Nov. 22 was suggested. Apparently the earlier date suited him better.

Bores Talk—Never Stop

VANCOUVER (CP)—A Toronto educationist says North American snobs usually resent good grammar.

Speaking to a meeting of the Vancouver institute, Dr. Northrop Frye, principal of Victoria College, said he had noted a tendency to avoid the "full sentence stop."

"You must have noticed when talking with bores how they avoid the full stop," he said, "realizing that if they ever came to it, you would suddenly realize you had another urgent appointment."

Dr. Frye called the language of ordinary speech, the language of the eagle, "mumbling and sputtering."

Woman Puts Foot in Robbery

TORONTO (UPI)—An astonished housewife foiled a $5,900 bankrobbery yesterday when she stuck out her foot and tripped a fleeing bandit.

Mrs. Sally Strauss sent the man sprawling to the pavement in a flurry of dollar bills near the Bank of Commerce branch in the Forest Hill district.

"There was a lot of money flying around for a few minutes," she said.

Police charged 27-year-old William Shapiro, a cab driver and father of four children, with armed robbery.

Mrs. Strauss, 41, said "I didn't know there was a gun involved until the excitement was all over."

Police said it turned out to be a toy.

Mrs. Strauss said she was walking along the street to do her shopping when she saw a man rushing toward her and two men chasing him.

"Just as the first man dashed past, I grabbed for the paper bag and stuck out one foot. The bag went flying and so did the man," she said.

LET'S TALK

By Rudolf Flesch

Ever heard of a painter called Foujita? Until a few days ago the name was totally unknown to me, but now our house contains a print of a beautiful painting by him and I'm happy whenever I look at it.

The story connected with it is this.

We went on one of our shopping trips to the department store, my wife and I, and as we were walking out, I saw a sign that said "Last day of sale."

It turned out to be a special sale of prints at $1 and $1.98 apiece, with inexpensive frames to be put on right then and there. There was a long table with masses of prints—dozens of different Cezannes, Renoirs, Utrillos and whatnot—and I started to rummage around.

Real Eye-Catcher

Pretty soon my eye was caught by a painting that looked vaguely like a Utrillo.

You've probably seen those famous Utrillo paintings of Paris streets, all done in different shades of white. Well, this painting looked like an Utrillo but was somehow different. It was a Paris street scene all right, but instead of being a symphony in white, it was a symphony in white, grey and brown. There were a few shabby old houses squeezed together in a narrow street, with a vista of a Gothic church in the background (part of Notre Dame, perhaps?) and a cluster of roofs, dormers and chimney on top. I turned the print over and saw that it was marked "Foujita: Quaix aux Fleurs."

We bought it for $1.98 and for another $2.98 had it framed in plain oak.

When we came home, my 15-year-old son Hugo, who is a budding artist, said this was the most beautiful picture he'd ever seen and could he have it for his room.

Nowhere to Put It

I said no, it was meant for downstairs. Then I walked around the whole downstairs and tried to find a spot for it, but strangely enough, there wasn't a single suitable spot on any of the walls. So I retracted and told Hugo he could have it.

We took it upstairs and I remembered then that Hugo's room had just recently been papered and his old pictures had never been put back up again. His walls were bare.

There was one obvious spot for the Foujita and that's where we put it up. As soon as we'd done it, the whole room miraculously changed as if it had been waiting for this picture all the time. Instead of a nondescript little bedroom, it turned into a room full of personality, character and style. Now at long last, it was really Hugo's room.

Funny the way things work out sometimes.

Is U.S. Brainwashing Us?

Dike Sought to Stem Flood of Literature

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's political parties were asked Monday to bury their differences and support one public policy to help overcome U.S. domination of Canadian reading habits.

In the second submission to the royal commission on publications the Graphic Arts Industries Association said bitterly that Canada must either increase its own output of books, magazines and periodicals or "concede victory now to the greater glory of U.S. materialism."

FOR PERIODICALS

The association, speaking mainly for Canadian periodicals, did not advocate tariffs, taxation or embargoes against the flood of U.S. publications.

It urged a public policy—through the Canada Council or some new agency—for "positive encouragement" of the Canadian-owned, Canadian-produced printing industry, with special attention to reading material with a national circulation.

EVEN WORSE

"Dilly-dallying or deferring until another day will do no good, only greater damage," the association said. Time was on the side of the strong U.S. competitors who—aided by the U.S. government are staging a campaign to "Americanize the reading habits of the Canadian people from childhood up."

No other self-governing nation in the world is exposed to such severe printing competition, the association said.

$5.09 APIECE

Last year Canada imported $87,371,013 worth of publications and printed matter from the U.S. or $5.09 worth for each Canadian while Canadian exports to the U.S. totalled only $3,913,690 — two cents worth for each U.S. resident.

Despite this imbalance, organizers of printers and publishers "have been agitating this very year for more restraints upon competition and for more concessions by other countries, including Canada."

In 1931, the brief noted, the alarm felt by the Canadian industry led to imposition of tariffs and excise taxes by the then Conservative government. To escape these burdens, 52 U.S. magazines came to Canada to print their Canadian requirements.

Then, following the 1935 federal election, the Liberals "promptly did the popular thing" and removed the tariffs and taxes—"probably not realizing the extent to which the U.S. now would exploit our defenceless situation." Immediately all 52 U.S. publishers took their printing home.

'Gracious Act'

Kennedy Goes To Visit Nixon

* * *

MIAMI (AP) — John Kennedy paid a perhaps unprecedented call Monday on the man he defeated for the presidency to discuss in an atmosphere of cordiality the problems of a political transition and world affairs.

Kennedy and Vice-President Richard Nixon chatted for 63 minutes. Kennedy said later there was no discussion of a position for Nixon in the new administration.

CORDIAL, HELPFUL

In separate press conferences afterward, each said the session was cordial and helpful.

Kennedy made the overtures for the meeting. Nixon termed it "a very gracious act."

While there were deep differences during the campaign, Nixon said the meeting was "notice to all the world there will be no differences we will have in the next four years based on personal considerations."

TO MEET IKE

Kennedy said he definitely expects to meet President Eisenhower before the Jan. 20 inauguration.

Canada's Hope

Money 'Wave' Coming

LONDON (CP) — The Financial Times says some Canadians hope for a "wave of public spending" by the new U.S. administration to help lift the Canadian economy from its depressed state.

Unemployment is dominating Canadian public attention equally in political, business and labor circles, the newspaper adds in a story from Ottawa.

MORE JOBLESS

It predicts that more than one man in every 10 will be unemployed this winter, adding that more women will also be jobless — especially those below 25.

The paper quotes Canadian industrialist E. P. Taylor as saying Canada faces a long period of slackness in industry and business, with consequent large-scale unemployment and a continuing fall-off in the flow of desirable immigrants unless "we face up to the situation and adopt new policies and practices."

BUSINESS LEAD

Taylor's plan to deal with "present national emergency" is an economic affairs and welfare ministry headed by a top businessman who could secure cabinet authority for his remedies "however unpopular they may be in some quarters."

While public demand may concentrate on the need for shorter measures to alleviate unemployment, the story adds, more thoughtful businessmen are looking for long-term measures to assure a continued basis for a permanent increase in employment.

GOOD CATTLE

The first shorthorn cattle imported to Canada came from England's eastern counties about 1830.

Believed Dead

Search Stops For Family Near Island

The large-scale search for a Lasqueti Island man and his three children, missing since Friday in Georgia Strait, was cancelled yesterday.

The four are presumed dead, although no trace of their bodies has been found.

A land party Sunday found a briefcase on Hornby Island which belonged to the man, William Fisher, 45, who owns a hotel on Lasqueti Island. Searchers also found two lifejackets of the type worn by the children—six years, seven and 10.

The four were on a 10-mile trip from Lasqueti Island to French Creek, near Qualicum Beach in Mr. Fisher's small boat.

A full-scale search was carried out Saturday, Sunday and yesterday and the area was fully covered, Powell River RCMP reported last night.

Your Good Health

Hard Tap Water Won't Hurt You

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, MD

"Dear Dr. Molner: Recently we purchased a water softener for our home because the well water is very hard and has a great deal of iron in it. The salesman told us such hard water is not good for one to drink—at least, he said, the softened water is much better.

"However, I do not like to drink the softened water and do not quite believe him.

"My question, then, is whether the calcium, iron, etc., in well water is injurious to health? After all, there is more sodium in the softened water.

"If you say so, I'll force myself, but otherwise I shall continue drinking from the hard water tap. Don't get me wrong: everything else in the soft water is wonderful.—Mrs. F. K."

* * *

M'am, you have things pegged just about perfectly.

Softened water is better for just about all purposes except drinking—and for that, it's a matter of taste.

There is no significance, so far as health is concerned, whether you drink hard water or soft, when the calcium, iron, etc., in hard water are in concentrations that leave the water in drinkable condition, such as ordinary well water. (I leave a slight qualification because it is possible in some wild places to find water so loaded with various impurities that it is bitter and offensive, and might in some cases be somewhat harmful to health.)

I seriously question whether a salesman is likely to make any more sales by making such an unfounded claim as your fellow did. The genuine reasons for softening water are adequate inducement for most anybody: Washing is easier and better; pipes don't clog up with lime; sinks don't discolor as stubbornly; less soap is needed; it's easier to wash your hair. And so on.

So I offer my advice, which I presume your salesman will ignore, but I'll tell him anyway: Stick to the truth, boy!

"Dear Dr. Molner: I have a hernia and it is getting larger. It came after I had gall bladder surgery. What can I do? — Mrs. A. G."

* * *

Where is the hernia? If it is at the site of the operation, report this to the surgeon so he can take proper steps to correct it. If, on the other hand, the hernia is in the groin or in the abdomen but not at the scar from the operation, then there is no connection between it and the operation. However, since it is becoming worse, you should consult your physician. Hernias don't get better by being left alone; they get worse.

For Mrs. B. A. S.: I've said before, and I repeat emphatically to you, heavy use of alchohol and poor diet contribute to cirrhosis of the liver —but the disease can and does occur in people who have never touched a drop of alcohol in all their lives.

Warship Rescues Big Yacht

Pacific Command destroyer escort HMCS Fraser late yesterday took the crippled 40-foot yacht Sea Witch in tow and headed for Honolulu, 600 miles away.

Latest message received here from Fraser said the yacht was taken in tow at 5 p.m. after Mrs. Frances Westfall and her two children, Vicky and Cloyd, had been transferred to the warship.

Three other occupants of the twin-masted yacht, Victor Westfall, a former aircraft plastics engineer, and crewmen William Basseri and James Smith, remained on board.

Sea Witch had been at sea 62 days out of San Diego, bound for Tahiti and New Zealand, when a storm damaged the ship. An RCN repair party from Fraser reported auxiliary engines, rigging and sails couldn't be made serviceable.

Letters to the Editor

Prevention First

I find it impossible to follow the reasoning of Dr. P. C. Livingston's letter which appeared in your edition of Nov. 11. In this day and age that there is a physician who does not believe in preventative medicine is astounding.

The future of medicine, I hope and pray, will be not to graduate in medicine for the purpose of alleviating human suffering and of curing disease, but of knowing how to prevent the suffering of diseases. I must admit, however, that there are not many who are capable of distinguishing between the normal and abnormal, for the simple reason that the teaching in the medical schools has deteriorated. The cause of this, is the tendency of over-specialization.

I am certain that if a complete check-up were made on every individual by a competent physician, the larger percentage would be found to have abnormalities that could be corrected before the necessity comes to alleviate their suffering, and occupying a bed in the over-crowded hospitals. Thus many man-hours of lost time would be saved.

I would like to congratulate Dr. Molner in advocating more and better doctors, even though the B.C. Medical Council claims that there are too many doctors in the Province of British Columbia!

I would like to see a clinic in Victoria where the apparently normal individual will attend to be kept in good health, so that such crippling diseases as paraplegics, multiple sclerosis, heart conditions, arthritis, cancer, etc., could be prevented.

It seems to me that the "softening process" is on the side of medicine instead of the public.

Medical Overhaul

I note in your columns a letter under the heading of "Softening Process." Although only a layman, I am wondering if your distinguished correspondent is right in his contention that "routine annual medical overhaul does little to assure anything in relation to survival."

With due respect to his well-made point in the following paragraph, it is known that many physicians do advise it. As a result of such an examination, if the patient is well, he should feel like a million dollars. If on the other hand he is found to be in need of treatment, surely it is better that this fact should be discovered in time, in his own interests?

Does it really "tire and disorientate the busy practitioner" to perform a routine physical examination for which he receives an adequate fee?

Minutes and Lives

When are we going to cry "Enough!"

Week after week, the headlines tell of death and serious injury on our highways. Fatalities, injuries, property damage are all rising.

The traffic toll was steadily dropping until this demand for higher speeds was started. Now we find more and more cars going out of control, smashing into bridges, poles and each other, being forced off of highways. Traffic police are forced to endanger their own and other people's lives in an effort to keep everything moving at the stepped-up speeds.

This emphasis on speed rather than safety must inevitably influence the average motorist's attitude toward driving, particularly the irresponsible younger driver and drinking driver who, urged to drive at top speeds when sober, will step on it even harder when his judgment is impaired.

The time has come for British Columbia citizens to demand a return to some measure of sanity on the roads all must use. Surely buses and cars can start a little earlier to catch planes and ferries? Are minutes worth more than lives?

Pensioners Abroad

In your editorial headed "Easing Their Burden," dated Nov. 10, you speak approvingly of the new ruling which permits pensioners to draw their allowance while living abroad. You say that "there will be small drain on the nation," because of this, but I submit that there will be no drain at all.

Any professional economist will tell you that "money cannot cross frontiers," and this, in practical terms, means that those Canadian dollars, which the pensioner appears to spend abroad, must in fact find their way home again and be spent by someone in this country.

What the pensioner actually does is to exchange his dollars for local currency—pounds, francs, pesos, or whatever it may be—and the other party to the transaction only accepts them because he wishes to use them to buy Canadian goods. The intricate wheels of commerce and exchange may obscure the position, so that even cabinet ministers appear to believe what you imply, but in essence the position is as I have stated it.

Why Use the Park?

Regarding the Speakers' Corner at Beacon Hill, it seems a shame to encroach still further on the beauties of the park by again enlarging the space reserved for car parking.

As the people who form the audience at these meetings are not primarily interested in the scenery, why use the park at all? It would surely be more sensible to utilize the government parking lot for this purpose. There would be unlimited parking facilities, plenty of room for everybody, and a much more convenient situation into the bargain. And, best of all, the park would be saved the extra wear and tear of the crowds.

The Beholder's Eye

Thank you so much for printing Mr. Chestnut's article, "Charm Killed Sneers" in the Nov. 11 Colonist. It was beautifully written, and made one homesick for our gentle English countryside.

Beauty is indeed in the eye of the beholder, and how nice to think it was in the eyes of Mr. Chestnut, so that he was able so vividly to portray the small things that mean so much to an English person living in another country. I echo his wish and prayer that it remains always and forever England.

Thank you, too, Mr. Chestnut, for all your helpful hints and advice on beautifying our lawns and gardens, so that we may all help to make Victoria a fairer and more beautiful place.

How to Antagonize

Do not the business men of Victoria realize that the best way to lose friends and antagonize people is to send out mail (especially advertising and soliciting mail) with insufficient postage on it?

If they must get their mailing lists from the telephone directory cannot they note the addressee's exchange letters? The diagram on page 6 of their telephone directory will show in most cases whether he is in the four-cent zone or not.

Apparently they mail first-class mail to anybody in the telephone directory (in other words, to anyone on the whole Saanich Peninsula from Victoria to Sidney) with a four-cent stamp. This happens to most of us two or three times a month.

A chap along the block from me insists that they just don't know four cents is for local mail only, but I can't believe that. Of course, he is the sarcastic type.

China Biggest Worry

* * *

Kennedy Adviser Looks to Future

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. Chester Bowles predicted Monday that Russia might modify its tough stand toward the West if Communist China continues to be expansionist and aggressive.

Bowles, one of John Kennedy's top foreign policy advisers and a possible secretary of state, emphasized this would take time.

In a copyrighted interview with U.S. News and World Report, he said: "Our task is to block or neutralize (the) Soviet effort at economic and political dominance, so the nations of Asia, Africa and Latin America can develop in their own way, without need for dependence on the Communists."

Bowles said he would be inclined to assume Red China would remain aggressive.

"Then the Soviet Union, having failed to split the Atlantic alliance and to secure a dominant position in Asia, Africa and Latin America, might be more willing to develop a more rational relationship to us and to our friends in Europe."

Bowles said he would continue to oppose diplomatic recognition of Red China. The Chinese worry him more than Russia.

"I would not expect war to be launched by the Soviet Union unless through some tragic miscalculation," he said. "I am not certain that fear of war means so much to China, if you can believe the chilling statements of her leaders."

Bowles said three factors would affect the 1960's—the spread to other countries of nuclear weapons; China, likely to be "an enormous growing force in world affairs" and "the strength and influence of the uncommitted countries."

Now Shell makes special gasolines for the West Coast—to prevent stalling even on the dampest days

In West Coast Winters, dampness is a major cause of engine stalling. Read how moisture turns to ice in your carburetor even on mild days! And how Shell's Winter gasolines are specially fortified to prevent stalling even in the dampest weather.

ORDINARY WINTER gasolines often fail to keep engines from stalling here on the West Coast of Canada.

These same gasolines work well enough in really cold climates. But during our mild Winters, dampness is a major reason engines stall.

Ice at fifty degrees

Here's what happens when you start your car. As soon as your engine turns over, the temperature inside your carburetor can drop as much as thirty degrees!

You can see what that means. Even if it's a mild fifty degrees outside, it's below freezing in your carburetor. As your freezing-cold carburetor gulps damp air from outside, the moisture in the air turns to ice. And your car stalls.

Shell's West Coast gasolines

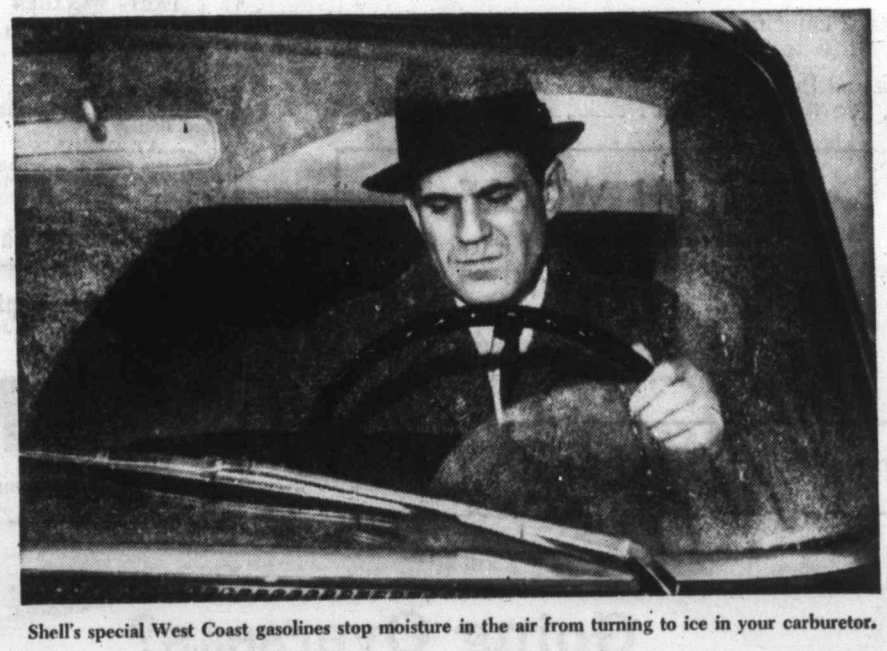
When you fill up at any Shell service station on the West Coast of Canada, you get gasoline made specially for driving in our damp, Winter weather.

At Shellburn refinery, a special anti-stalling ingredient is added to the Winter gasolines. The name of this ingredient is Shell's Additive 182. It wins the battle by joining forces with the enemy. As soon as moisture gets into your carburetor, Additive 182 mixes with it to prevent it from freezing.

And there's enough Additive 182 in Shell gasolines to protect you against stalling even when the relative humidity is 100 per cent.

Quick starts

All year round, Shell is primed with Butane, to give quick-starts. Butane is so eager to get started that it will actually vaporize by itself unless stored under pressure at the refinery.



Shell's special West Coast gasolines stop moisture in the air from turning to ice in your carburetor.

In Winter, Shell increases the dose of Butane. Think what this means on a chilly morning. Your engine fires in seconds. And a big strain is taken off your battery.

At Shellburn, still another ingredient is added to Shell Gasolines to give you quick warm-ups.

Its name is Iso-pentane. It is made by tearing gasoline apart, at the refinery, much as you split kindling to start a log fire.

In this case, the "logs" are petroleum's heavier hydrocarbons. These hydrocarbons are actually split up, and their heavy molecules are transformed from slow-burning "logs" to quick-firing "kindling".

The result is that your engine warms up quickly to give you top performance fast.

Test West Coast Shell yourself

Next time you fill up, why not try one of Shell's exclusive West Coast gasolines? You will be well protected against driving troubles caused by our damp, chilly Winter weather. You will get the same top performance that Shell always give you, no matter what the season.

Youths' Nanaimo Friend Mayor Visit New York

NANAIMO—B.C.'s Friend of Youth and Nanaimo's mayor are now in New York for a five-day visit.

Eighty-two-year-old Joe Sutton, who was named B.C.'s Friend of Youth last month chose his long-time friend, Mayor Pete Maffeo, as his travelling companion on the long trip. The two left the hub city by boat Monday morning and then flew by jet with stops at Winnipeg and Toronto before hitting the largest U.S. city.

The all-expense-paid trip for two was the major prize in the contest, which saw Mr. Sutton win out over many top youth workers in the entire province.

Mrs. Maffeo accompanied her husband and Mr. Sutton as far as Winnipeg where she will meet her daughter and son-in-law and spend a week with them while awaiting her husband's return.

Truck Snaps Off Poles Cuts Power at Duncan

DUNCAN—A truck was heavily damaged early Sunday when it snapped off two poles and cut electric power and telephone service for more than half an hour.

Police said the truck was owned by John E. McGregor, Somenos Road, and was taken without his consent.

The truck was abandoned after the accident. Police said some juveniles were being questioned.

The vehicle was going toward town on Lake Cowichan Road near Gibbins when it failed to make a righthand turn and knocked a 14-foot section from a telephone pole, skidded sideways and snapped off another at the ground level, then stopped across the street on the sidewalk.

B.C. Hydro and telephone crews were called out at 2 a.m. when one of the two telephone poles fell across the road and tore out power lines to homes in the area. The telephone lines put out of order served Lake Cowichan.

SAM ETCHEVERRY

HAL PATTERSON

... still rated the best.

Etcheverry, Patterson Named In Big Four All-Star Voting

TORONTO—Adding a touch of irony to the most controversial, and biggest trade made in Canadian football, the selectors entrusted with naming the Big Four all-star team selected quarterback Sam Etcheverry and end Hal Patterson, the greatest passing combination in Canadian football history.

The announcement of the Canadian Press all-star team came six days after the surprising deal which sent the pair to Hamilton Tiger-Cats from Montreal Alouettes in return for quarterback Bernie Faloney and Don Paquette, a Canadian defensive end.

Neither of the players received by Montreal got a vote from any one of the 21 selectors, who had voted before the trade was made.

Selection of Etcheverry over Tobin Rote, the former National Football League ace who passed Toronto Argonauts from the cellar to first place with a record 38 touchdown throws, was the big surprise.

Most football followers felt that Rote was all but a shoo-in for all-star honors but selectors graded Etcheverry high for his part in putting the lowrated Alouettes into the playdowns.

ANOTHER TWIST

Adding still another twist, it was Etcheverry's first selection since 1957, when he was named for the fifth straight time. The man who beat him out in 1958 and 1959 was none other than Faloney.

Patterson, too, had won selection for five straight years when a knee injury broke his streak last season.

Voting produced on unanimous choices but fullback Cookie Gilchrist of Toronto and lineman John Barrow of Hamilton were chosen to both the offence and defence clubs.

Gilchrist was part of a backfield which would look good in any league. The other fullback, of course, was Dave Thelen, the Ottawa Rough Rider who has led the league in rushing for the past two seasons. The two halfbacks are speedy Dave Mann, Rote's favorite target, and Ron Stewart, Ottawa's chunky little Canadian terror.

TOUGH CHOICE

That left out George Dixon, the Montreal import halfback who was leading the league in scoring until Gilchrist passed him on the last day of the season. But if Dixon belonged, so did Stewart and Mann.

Norm Stoneburgh, Toronto centre, and Stewart were the only Canadians on the offence team. Halfback Joe Poirier, corner linebacker Gary Schreider and end Lou Bruce of Ottawa and guard Marty Martinello of Toronto were the Canadians named to the defence team.

Martinello played with B.C. Lions last season, was traded to the Argos for George Grant before the start of the 1960 season.

Sunday's scores: Montreal 2 at New York 1; Toronto 4 at Boston 2; Detroit 1 at Chicago 7.
Next game: Tonight, Chicago at Detroit.

Chicago Black Hawks got themselves righted Sunday night and Toronto Maple Leafs are starting to make like serious contenders but they could be left battling for the runner-up spot in the National Hockey League season. Montreal Canadiens seem out of their slump and heading for their fourth straight championship.

In and around first place from the start despite some shaky early-season defensive play, Canadiens are currently boasting a five-game unbeaten streak which has put them three points in front.

They won their third in a row Sunday night by getting by New York's desperate Rangers, 2-1, on Gilles Tremblay's first goal of the season and Dickie Moore's 18th.

It was enough for an improved Montreal defence playing in front of a Jacques Plante who seems to at last have recovered his old form.

For the Rangers, steadily dropping hopelessly behind, it was the seventh setback in an eight-game winless streak.

Hawks, rocked, 7-1, in Toronto Saturday night, bounced back at home Sunday to smash Detroit's Red Wings by the same score.

Toronto kept coming with a 4-2 conquest of the Bruins at Boston as Red Kelly and Frank Mahovlich set the pace, each with a goal and an assist.

Results left the spread between the first four and the trailing two teams greater and strongly indicated that it will be the Bruins and Rangers who are likely to miss any post-season play.

Colts and Giants Stay Alive

Professional football as played in the National Football League is still gaining in public interest. And Sunday's six games showed just why they were watched by almost 300,000 paying customers.

Five of them were decided by a touchdown or less, two were decided in the last minute of play and one was won in the last part of the last quarter.

Fans in Chicago, New York and Philadelphia sat in on the most hair-raising finishes of all with the first two games decided in the last seconds and the last one on a fourth-down gamble for a touchdown instead of a field goal, which would have provided enough points to win.

WHO ELSE?

Emerging as the big hero of the day was a fellow who has been a hero often — Johnny Unitas, the fabulous quarterback of the defending-champion Baltimore Colts.

Unitas has never been greater than he was in that last two minutes at Chicago on Sunday. The rough, tough Bears had a 20-17 lead when Unitas started herding his club goalward with little time left.

There were 89 seconds left when he got them to the 35-yard line. It was within range for a tying field goal but tie games don't count in the NFL and the Colts needed a win to stay ahead of Green Bay Packers in the Western Conference.

The Bears tightened there, and Unitas was dumped hard twice in a row as his defenders couldn't hold out a savagely-charging Chicago line. The Baltimore quarterback, with fourth down and 14 yards to go, had to be patched up on the field with blood streaming from gouges on his cheek and forehead.

Unruffled as ever, Unitas went for broke. He faded back, pumped twice in a brilliant fake, and then lofted a pass into the Chicago end zone for speedy Len Moore, who got behind defender J. C. Caroline. There were only 35 seconds left when Steve Myhra kicked the conversion for a 24-20 win.

New York Giants stayed right behind Philadelphia Eagles in the Eastern Division with a 27-24 win over the stubborn Pittsburgh Steelers, brought about with 30 seconds left when Pat Summerall kicked a 37-yard field goal.

And the Eagles barely escaped against Washington Redskins, who led by 13-9 with about seven minutes left. Norm Van Brocklin had his club 28 yards away with a fourth down and 10 situation. He could go for a field goal and gamble on getting another chance for a three-pointer or go for the touchdown.

He went for the major score although he had thrown six successive incomplete passes, hit Bobby Walston for the go-ahead touchodwn. Walston converted to make it 16-13, brought the score to 19-13 40 seconds from time with a field goal after an interception.

Other close games saw Cleveland Browns barely stay in the fight with a 28-27 squeaker over St. Louis Cardinals, fullback Jim Brown setting a record for one game with 173 yards rushing, and Detroit Lions eke out a 12-10 win over Los Angeles Rams.

Garden Notes

Let's Get Cracking

By M. V. CHESNUT, FRHS

This is a good time to get cracking and give the garden a good tidy-up for the winter. Once a sharp ground frost has swept the boards, there is no point in leaving the dying remains of plants lying around, for this only encourages the spread of pests and diseases.

In clearing the vegetable plot, the spent pea and bean vines should be cut off at soil level. The tops can go to the compost heap or may be chopped up and dug in during the course of winter cultivation, but the roots should remain in the soil.

If you were to examine the roots of any member of the legume family, you would notice tiny nodules or lumps dotted here and there on the finer roots; these are colonies of beneficial bacteria—germs which have the power of extracting plant food from the air—and we want to retain these microscopic allies in our soil.

It is possible to be too tidy in cleaning up the perennial flower beds. I don't think it is a good idea to cut down these plants right to soil level, for it is too easy to forget just where the plants are located if no topgrowth at all is showing, and serious damage could be done while forking or digging over the ground between plants. I prefer to leave some stubs of stems sticking up to mark the plant locations.

If a mulch was spread over the soil surface between the plants last summer to conserve soil moisture, don't be too keen to turn it under completely—here again, a passion for tidiness may defeat your object. It is better to chop such an organic mulch into the surface rather than bury it, even though the bed may not look so neat. The rough surface of mixed litter and soil will allow deeper penetration of winter rain and frost.

In gardens where slugs are troublesome, lilies are liable to take quite a beating through the winter, both bulbs and shoots being attacked. In view of the high price of many lilies these days, it pays to take some precautions against slug damage.

Mark the areas occupied by the bulbs to make sure that no accidents will occur while forking over the site next spring. Pull out the remnants of the old flowering stems and pour a little liquid slug killer down the holes so that some will come in contact with the bulbs. Murphy's Slugit and Later's Slug-Fest are both excellent preparations for this purpose. Early next spring, just as growth is commencing, water the soil surface over the bulbs with more slug killer.

★ ★ ★

Roses have been taking quite a battering this fall from high winds and, while roses are tough plants and do not often have their branches broken, the whipping around of the bush often loosens the roots and leaves a tapered hole in the ground where the stem enters the soil. The ground around each stem should be forked over lightly and a little sandy soil mounded up for added support. A couple of light stakes or bamboo canes pushed into the soil among the branches will reduce wind sway considerably.

Madison Ave. Slapped Down

Just as the 1932 election was a defeat, final and irrevocable, of Wall Street as a dominant voice in government, this election has been a defeat, though not nearly so decisive and perhaps, alas, not at all irrevocable, of Madison Avenue.

Early in his campaign, Vice-President Nixon made noises indicating he'd cut loose from President Eisenhower and run his own campaign, But then Madison Avenue took control, the "everything is okay" approach (to use Adlai Stevenson's phraseology), which is essentially Madison Avenue, became the war cry—if war cry is not too stern a phrase. Still, it was such a narrow defeat and there were so many factors that Madison Avenue may live to run again, worse luck.

★ ★ ★

What is the Madison Avenue approach exactly? Well, you ask the people what they want to hear by survey and by research and then you give it to them. You send out a research team to determine what image the toothbrush should have. Then you manufacture it just as the people say. Now, not only is this a perfectly terrible way to run a government but it isn't even a very good way to make a toothbrush.

Above every other consideration—this is what you might say is the Madison Avenue prayer — one must be liked. No distressing body odors. Or—as the NBC commercial which kept interrupting the returns — no decaying teeth. The girl in that commercial kept losing the boy — but in the end she won him. Madison Avenue gave her a happy ending but it couldn't manage one for Nixon.

Foreign policy was the number one issue in this campaign and in this field alone the Madison Avenue approach has been disastrous. Jack Kennedy in his campaign faced the fact and tried—and probably succeeded—in making the electorate face the fact that U.S. prestige has declined.

The U.S. is not likely to be loved again as a nation in our lifetime. Rome was not loved. Britain was not loved when she ruled the waves. But both of them were respected.

Russia is not loved either but she is feared and that's not the answer either. Total terror binds your enemies into a coalition that destroyed Napoleon and destroyed Hitler and could destroy Khrushchev too.

Foreign policies must be designed to be wise and just and enduring, not simply to be popular which they are not likely to be anyway.

The election of Jack Kennedy brings to an end an era of private need (and private greed) and opens an era of public need (and I devoutly hope not public greed).

★ ★ ★

Since the end of the Second World War, we have been filling up the vast emptinesses in our private larders left by the austerities of the great Depression and Second World War, until in John Kenneth Galbreath's phrase we have almost drowned in a surfeit of nylon seat covers and plastic doorknobs. We have now all got, I think, enough toasters. We can turn our attention to our neglected school system, our unplanned and decaying cities. The age of the magalopolis is dawning and they require more than supermarkets to make them habitable.

Hollywood Today — By Sheilah Graham

Loretta's Show Dented

HOLLYWOOD (NANA)—Loretta Young's TV show is in trouble for the first time since it went on the air—the Arthur Godfrey competition in the new "candid camera" show has dented her rating. But if Loretta is worried it doesn't show on the charm girl, who never seems to lose her smiling serenity. And if she ever wants to sell the 200 half-hour films she has made during the last six years, there's $1,000,000 waiting merely for picking it up.

★ ★ ★

The original ending of Marlon Brando's "One-Eyed Jacks" had Marlon weeping for the first time, I believe, on the screen. With the new happy ending, the tears are gone. Just as well. Can you imagine a sobbing Brando?

★ ★ ★

Was it coincidence that Felicia Farr signed to do "The Three Musketeers" for David Susskind on TV, in New York, with Jack Lemmon in the same city for his play, "Face of a Hero"?

★ ★ ★

Figure this out: Nancy Kwan, star of "The World of Suzie Wong," will attend the London and Hollywood premieres on the same night, Dec. 16. Also a party in each city on the same night. London is eight hours ahead of Hollywood. Nancy will fly over the pole to Los Angeles immediately after the party and picture in London, and make the wingding in Hollywood, with time for a nap!

★ ★ ★

In "The Spinster" Shirley MacLaine hides her red hair under a Queen Victoria type brown wig. Changes her completely—except for the grin in her eyes . . . Shirley, by the way, received $175,000 plus a percentage for "The Apartment," and $250,000 for "Can-Can," enough to keep any wolf from the door.

★ ★ ★

Anthony George, star of the new "Checkmate" series, has a simple approach to the advantages of stardom—"It Makes It Easy to Meet Pretty Girls." George is trying, pretty girls notwithstanding, to get six weeks away from his series to join Audie Murphy in his film, "Battle at Bloody Beach." What a bloody title!

★ ★ ★

The silver lining to silent-day movie star Ramon Novarro's illness in London: The 61-year-old ex-idol has been flooded with letters from British matrons who remember him as the dashing hero of the first "Ben-Hur" film.

★ ★ ★

When Tuesday Weld was six years old, her mother brought her to Larry Matthews' beauty parlor on New York's Broadway and requested, "Make Her a Platinum Blonde." "I will not," said Larry, who was outraged at such a severe dye job for a girl of six. He asked them politely but firmly to leave. Next day he received a call from an official at CBS with the stronger request, "dye her hair; the part calls for it." This time Larry complied.

Danny Thomas wants to act in a Zane Grey segment with his daughter Marlo, whom I used to know as Margaret when she was a small girl living around the corner from my house in Beverly Hills. Danny denies the recent story that Marlo (or Maggie, which I prefer) was planning an elopment. "When she marries it will be in the church," says Daniel.

★ ★ ★

With the death of Ward Bond, his partner in the "Wagon Train" series, Robert Horton, is thinking of cancelling his Christmas appearance at the London Palladium. Robert and Ward were not too friendly in recent months, but a couple of weeks ago they buried the hatchet for the sake of their top-rated series. However, Robert did not attend the funeral.

★ ★ ★

Yul Brynner, due in New York, will be given a reception by the United Nations Nov. 28, as a thank-you for his good work with refugee children on behalf of UN.

★ ★ ★

Marilyn Monroe decided against the film version of "Goodbye Charlie." It's too boisterous for her, and what Marilyn wants most at this point is a long rest.

★ ★ ★

Tony Perkins has been calling New York for play scripts. He is getting near the end of "Aimez-vous Brahms" in Paris with Ingrid Bergman, and wants to do a play on Broadway before doing another movie in Hollywood.

Guardians Will Lose Boy

Court of Appeal Rules

WINNIPEG (CP) — The Manitoba Court of Appeal yesterday unanimously dismissed an appeal by Mr. and Mrs. Ken Hallas of Winnipeg who sought guardianship of the six-year-old boy whom they have looked after since he was 8½ months old.

The appeal was launched after Mr. Justice W. D. Ferguson in the Manitoba Court of Queen's Bench granted custody of the boy to the Children's Aid Society Aug. 18.

Mr. and Mrs. Hallas are prevented by the Manitoba Child Welfare Act from adopting the Roman Catholic boy. The Hallases belong to the United Church of Canada.

In July, the Children's Aid Society found a Roman Catholic home for Bobby and told the Hallas family they would lose Bobby. The Hallases refused to give the boy up until Mr. Justice Ferguson's ruling.

Chief Justice J. E. Adamson, in dismissing the appeal, said "The Hallases were well aware they would not be able to adopt the child . . . the powers of this court may not be exercised in violation of the Child Welfare Act."

Only Answer, Says Engineer

Park Cars 'Off-Street'

Only permanent solution to the problem of downtown traffic congestion involves provision of adequate and convenient off-street parking for shoppers, City Engineer James Garnett said yesterday in a talk to the public affairs group of the Chamber of Commerce.

Unless the city, or the city and business combined, undertake and subsidize the provision of off-street parking, he said, the problem likely will become steadily worse. The long-range traffic and parking plan approved in principle by city council, he told the group, includes reservation of sites for off-street parking facilities so that developing business can be safeguarded. Most urgent item in the program is the acquisition of the necessary land, he said, both for future parking facilities and for development and widening of major routes.

Youthful Robbers Convicted

An Assize Court jury deliberated for 20 minutes yesterday before returning verdicts of guilty against each of two young defendants charged with robbery with violence.

Gary Lea Groen, no fixed address, and William Trevor Donaldson, 1016 Balmoral, were remanded until the end of the assizes for sentence by Mr. Justice A. D. Macfarlane.

The charges followed an attack on a visiting California woman last Aug. 24 on Belleville near the Crest Motel.

Mayor Bucks Probe

Mayor Percy Scurrah opposed city council investigating the recent series of resignations at the Memorial Arena.

"My personal opinion is that it's the arena commission's business, and that council should hold the commission responsible for results and not interfere in any way," he said.

"It's possible a meeting with council might be helpful, but I can't see why council should interfere."

A meeting of the arena commission and city council's arena committee is expected to be held some time this week.

Silver Threads May Close Hall

Victoria's Silver Threads Service may be forced to close down its recreation hall because of the failure of the 1960 Community Chest.

Chest oficials estimated yesterday only $300,000 of the $350,000 target will be collected by the united appeal, meaning a drastic cut in the budget of all member agencies.

Silver Threads director Glen Hamilton said last night the budget cut might equal the $1,800 required to keep the recreation activities in operation.

More than 700 of Victoria's senior citizens use the centre at 643 Broughton Street, for card games, dramatics, arts and crafts, darts and other entertainments.

Almost $10,300 was received at the Chest office yesterday, bringing the total amount raised so far to $231,425—$118,575 below the target.

Chest officials are predicting that this week will be the biggest of the extended campaign. Closing day is Friday.

'Stolen' by Consent

By CHARLES THOMPSON

★ ★ ★

DUNCAN—Former Indian Chief Elwood Modeste said yesterday that as far as he is concerned this city is still an Indian reserve, "stolen" with the government's consent.

Original reserve maps show that the land set aside for the Indians "included what is now Duncan, and then some."

COLONIST STORY

He made the assertions during comments on a story in The Colonist Sunday from Ottawa that charged that the Indian Act impedes the development of hte people it sets out to protect.

Mr. Modeste said that "even the government's Indian department hasn't lived up to the original act" concerning reserves which were surveyed on the orders of the late Queen Victoria, "to be ours forever and ever."

FOUR YEARS

Mr. Modeste was chief here for four years. His father, grandfather and great-grandfather were chiefs before him. Mr. Modeste represented all B.C. Indians when he met Queen Elizabeth at Ottawa.

"My great-grandfather was chief when the surveyors asked them to pick out large areas of land that would be the reserve, land to live on and to hunt in — because the white people were coming in and they needed a place of their own," he said.

"IR" PLUG

Within recent years, claimed the former chief, an "IR" plug had been found in the city, marking a part of reserve land.

"Forget about the fact that Duncan may or may not be in a reserve," he said. "We don't have to go back many years for examples of land grabbing. Tzouhalem Farms, the Mission Church and rectory and some white farms on our western boundary have all been taken from the reserve."

They were not approved by "a majority of the people" as stipulated in the act, and yet an Indian commissioner to whom he spoke of the matter did nothing.

"The only piece of land that I know of that the people voted for was the 70 acres poor Charlie Williams sold to the city for $70,000," he said.

RUN DOWN

Mr. Williams was killed shortly afterward when run down by his own car. The property was actually sold to a government agency, Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation, for Centennial Heights subdivision.

The quiet-spoken carpenter agreed with the Colonist story that the Indian Act is "a very wicked act."

FINAL RULING

"If there is a land dispute, which you know there is quite often, it goes to the government and the minister gives a final ruling on it. This is no good. It should be settled on the level here, with a vote of the people," he added.

Some government workers tell Indians they are their own bosses, to administer their own affairs, when the truth is that they are given nothing to administer, said Mr. Modeste.

FIRST TIME

This year for the first time in B.C., the Cowichan tribe has a yearly budget to handle. Mr. Modeste was instrumental in getting the $12,000 for the band.

"But there is more than $200,000 in the band's fund and yet the council cannot touch it without the approval of the government, which gives the government control," he said.

Asked if he thought the reserve system should be abandoned, he answered: "No. We are proud of being Indians. When they were set up the Indians needed a place of their own. Many still do, but the development of our people would be helped if the government would let them control more of their affairs."

'Operation Go Home' To Involve 2,800

More than 2,800 provincial civil servants will take part in 'Operation Go Home" Friday afternoon to test civil defence preparedness.

The exercise will commence with a three-minute blast from the siren on the roof of the Douglas Building about 4.30 p.m.

Purpose of the exercise is to check the emergency measures organization alert warning system, to test internal communications, to drill personnel in building evacuation procedure, and to obtain data on time factors and study the flow of traffic to ascertain points of congestion.

Although authority has been obtained to carry out a total evacuation of the legislative buildings at the time of the exercise it will be necessary for those offices serving the public and required to remain open by statute to retain a skeleton staff until the normal closing time.

'Frisky' Killed In Old Well

"Frisky," a purebred race horse, died of a broken neck last night after falling through a rotten wooden cover over an abandoned well on a Saanich pasture property.

The horse, a one-year-old, was missed first at 4.30 p.m. when 13-year-old Wilfred Hollinger went to bed it down for the night in a barn.

It died about two hours later from injuries suffered in the fall, before it could be rescued.

"Frisky" was bred by Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Martin, 860 Seymour Avenue, and was boarded on property owned by Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Hollinger, Cherry Tree Bend at Haliburton.

The horse was valued at "about $1,000."

Lost 40 Hours

Hunter Shoots Last Buck In Future It's Beefsteak

Victoria hunter Ronald Beale, 39, shot his last buck deer early yesterday morning. In future he plans to buy his meat from a butcher.

He shot the buck about 9 a.m. while he was walking out of bush in the Leechtown area, where he had been lost for about 40 hours.

Mr. Beale cleaned the carcass and dragged it as far as he could before he left it. He met a search party as they were preparing to look for him and some of the party helped him bring the buck out.

"I'm not going out any more," he said yesterday. "It isn't worth it. I put in too tough a night last night—my clothes were wet and my matches wouldn't light.

"I couldn't even have a cigaret. My legs were so sore I could hardly move them in the morning.

"I'd sooner buy a T-bone steak."

Volunteer searchers, led by RCMP Const. H. D. Boyer of Shawnigan Lake and game warden Jack Lenfesty of Victoria, included Ruben Patrick 4105 Glanford, and Ted Cunningham, 4106 Glanford, neighbors of Mr. Beale.

Mr. Beale was reported missing about 3 p.m. Saturday. RCMP tracking dog was used Sunday.

SOUND PRESCRIPTION: Local drug salesman, making a sweep through northern B.C., came to a small, two-drugstore town. He was a little shocked to find that supplies at one store were negligible.

"Good heavens, sir!" exclaimed the salesman. "What do you do if someone wants a prescription filled?"

"Send 'em to Benny's," replied the druggist. (Benny's is the opposition drugstore.) "Last month I filled $45 worth of welfare prescriptions. Sent the bill to Victoria and all they sent me back was $4. Yep, now I send 'em all to Benny's!"

TWO CITY SEAMEN DIE IN MALAHAT CAR CRASH

Shocked passersby examine Malahat crash.

News Stuns Shipmates

By JACK FRY

A pulverizing car crash on the Malahat last night left two men dead and three persons injured.

Dead are Douglas Hartlen, of Nova Scotia, a deckhand, and James Percy, 730 Violet, second cook, who worked aboard the icebreaker CGS Camsell, due to sail from Victoria Wednesday.

MESS BOY

Injured were Douglas Hartlen's brother, Keith, deckhand, and Alvin Fisher, mess boy, both of the Camsell, and Marjory Gavell, all treated for undetermined injuries at St. Joseph's Hospital. Keith was discharged by press time, Gavell was listed in fair condition and Fisher satisfactory.

Only one car was involved, said police. A Victoria-bound 1955 Ford apparently skidded out of control for 75 yards along a ditch on Tunnel Hill and flipped back onto the highway, landing upside down.

Three ambulances raced dying and injured to St. Joseph's Hospital.

GRISLY SCENE

Traffic came to a standstill bumper-to-bumper for a quarter mile on each side of the grisly scene.

Four hours later, RCMP were still piecing together their reports.

John Getgood, RR1 Ladysmith, followed the death car down the Malahat but was too far behind to see the actual crash. He rounded a curve and saw ahead of him the mangled car and broken bodies nearby.

STUNNED VICTIM

He jumped from his car and ran to a man staggering near the form of a girl lying on the highway beside the front fender. The stunned victim repeatedly mumbled "my name is Fisher . . . my name is Fisher," said Mr. Getgood.

"We found two more men trapped inside the car and a third lying in the ditch 30 feet from the car. One man inside had a strong pulse but I couldn't reach the other one."

CAME TO HELP

Another motorist came to assist and "we tried to lift the car but we couldn't budge it," he said.

RCMP were called by Philip Robertson, of Shawnigan Lake, second person upon the scene, who turned his car around and sped off to Goldstream, the nearest telephone.

The first ambulance, driven by Allen Le Quesne, who was assisted by Vic Kent, both of the Langford volunteer fire department, brought the injured woman and one of the dead men.

"A car seat was in the middle of the road, 20 feet from the wreck. The girl was lying with her head on the cushion and a young man in a bad state of shock was sitting on the other end of the same seat," said Mr. Le Quesne.

ANOTHER AMBULANCE

Another Langford ambulance commandeered by Eugene Yates and Vern Edwards brought in two men, both conscious, one whose forehead was swathed in blood-stained bandages and the other who was propped on one elbow with an unlighted cigaret dangling from his mouth.

Joe Rainer, driver, and Max David, of Victoria Ambulance Service Ltd., brought in the second dead man. "Cars were lined up for a quarter mile when we pulled up," he said. "I suppose there were about as many cars on the other side too."

STUNNED BY NEWS

Shipmates aboard the Camsell, tied up by Johnson Street Bridge, were stunned by the news. Leaving one man on watch, the rest hurried over to hospital.

In mild shock was bos'un William Green, who said "I was going to go with them up to Nanaimo but I came down to watch the football game on television here and missed them."

He was later seen at hospital trying to console Keith Hartlen over the loss of his brother.

MUCH MISSED

Capt. A. F. Davidson, skipper of the Camsell, said of his dead crew members, "They will be very much missed by the ship's company. They were good boys, hard workers and reliable.

"Both were with me since the ship was commissioned last November."

Rail Strike Looms

MONTREAL (CP)—Fifteen unions representing about 112,000 non-operating railroad employees are to announce the result of a strike vote today. The result is considered a foregone conclusion.

The Gazette says returns already in show that up to 90 per cent of the non-operating employees favor a strike to back up their wage demands.

Ever since the balloting was announced last September, after the CPR and CNR refused to accept a 14-cent-an-hour wage increase which a federal conciliation board had recommended for the non-ops, there has been little or no doubt that the union members would favor a strike by a large majority.

Crash Kills Air Leader

NORTH BAY, Ont. (CP) — Wing Cmdr. C. E. P. Hare, 38, of Toronto, commander of the RCAF's 414 Squadron at North Bay, and his adjutant died Monday night when their CF-100 all-weather jet interceptor crashed in dense bush about 15 miles northeast of here.

Cook Hangs

* * *

FT. SASKATCHEWAN, Alta. (CP)—Robert Raymond Cook, 23, was hanged early today for the murder of his father.

RAYMOND COOK

The trap was sprung at 12.05 a.m. (MST) and Cook was pronounced dead at 12.19 a.m.

Warden Thomas Holt said Cook "went like a man should" and added that Cook "has been a wonderful prisoner."

Cook, an auto mechanic, was convicted twice of murder after the shot and bludgeoned bodies of seven members of his family were found in a garage grease pit.

As the hours ran out for Cook, he summoned lawyer Giffard Main to his jail cell.

The call for Mr. Main came Monday after Cook had received a telegram from Ottawa saying there would be no commutation.

Cook, baptized into the Lutheran faith at 10 p.m., deeded his eyes to the Edmonton eye bank and his body to the anatomy department of the University of Alberta. No one claimed his body.

He maintained his innocence to the end but did not implicate anyone, said Rev. W. A. Rumsch.

There have been only nine executions in Canada since the Progressive Conservative government assumed office in June, 1957. Commutations to life imprisonment total 35 out of the 44 death sentences for murder.

Small A-Club Urged by Green

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP) — Without disarmament, the nuclear club will become "the least exclusive club in the world—and we all know what that means," External Affairs Minister Green told the United Nations Monday.

The Canadian said messages exchanged between American president-elect John Kennedy and Soviet Premier Khrushchev are "heartening." But the U.S. election was bound to cause some delay in resumption of disarmament negotiations.

EMPHASIZE URGENCY

Once again he called on middle and smaller countries for support of Canada's resolution urging establishment of a small UN non-nuclear committee to emphasize the urgency of disarmament and work at getting East-West negotiations going again.

U.S. Snags Second Capsule

HONOLULU (UPI)—A U.S. Air Force plane almost six miles above the ocean Monday caught the gold-plated capsule of a Discoverer satellite that had whirled 31 times and almost 1,000,000 miles around the world.

It was only the second time in history a satellite capsule has been caught in mid-air and the air crew that did it almost missed the flight because of mechanical trouble. They snagged it on the second pass.

The Discoverer XVII, fired from a California base Saturday, was left in space for 31 passes instead of the usual 17 when scientists reported it was working perfectly.

Promote Revolt Goldwater Urges

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. Barry Goldwater Monday proposed a series of drastic changes in U.S. foreign policy —including less reliance on the United Nations and the active promotion of U.S.-backed revolutions in Communist eastern Europe.

The Arizona senator, a leader in the Republican party's conservative bloc, also suggested that the Western powers consider an "interim protectorate" over Africa to prepare that strife-torn area for effective self-government.

Goldwater's remarks could signal a major try on his part to win a stronger voice in Republican councils in anticipation of the 1964 presidential race.

After Vice-President Richard M. Nixon's defeat he said he wanted a voice in the next national election battle.

He said the United States "must shed the attitudes and techniques of the Salvation Army and start behaving like a great power."

Otherwise, he said, "the situation will progressively worsen until the United States is at bay—isolated and besieged by an entirely hostile world."

Kennedy Asked to Check Ouster of Portland Men

PORTLAND (AP) — President-elect John F. Kennedy was asked Monday to help stay the deportation of two Portland men, Hamish Scott Mackay and William A. Mackie.

The supreme court earlier Monday refused to order a stay. Now only an order from the president could block the deportation which the immigration service has been working at for years.

President Eisenhower did not acknowledge a request to intervene.

Their offense, the two say, was in joining groups that tried to help the unemployed during the depression.

Small Boy's Prank Costs Man's Life

NEW YORK (UPI)—A painter plunged to his death yesterday because an 11-year-old boy, as a prank, had cut part-way through a rope that held his scaffold. Harry Perlmutter, 62, fell three storeys to his death. His partner hung on and crawled to safety through a window.

Reds Boost Ruble Value

LONDON (Reuters) — Russia announced Monday a revaluation of its currency, effective Jan. 1, 1961, which makes a ruble worth more than a dollar.

Tass said the currency will be revalued at 90 kopeks to the dollar. There are 100 kopeks in a ruble. The current official rate pegs the ruble at about 25 cents.

Bores Talk—Never Stop

VANCOUVER (CP)—A Toronto educationist says North American snobs usually resent good grammar.

Speaking to a meeting of the Vancouver institute, Dr. Northrop Frye, principal of Victoria College, said he had noted a tendency to avoid the "full sentence stop."

"You must have noticed when talking with bores how they avoid the full stop," he said, "realizing that if they ever came to it, you would suddenly realize you had another urgent appointment."

Dr. Frye called the language of ordinary speech, the language of the eagle, "mumbling and sputtering."

He said the typical Canadian youth "confronts his heritage with a baffled stare."
